Rally By Exeter Tops Andover, 9-8

Andover . . . dominated matters in surprising fashion, indeed through the first 15 minutes of the second half, Exeter had possession for only 7 plays . . . The final statistics gave Andover the best of it by a convincing margin. Andover made 16 first downs and 193 yards net to Exeter's 8 first downs and 131 yards.

Kennedy's Death Stuns PA; Classes Halted For Funeral

In our young awareness of the world, never has an event of such magnitude and common tragedy taken place. For the first time, perhaps, we feel history. We are also hit by an equally new sense of change and loss. Our memories cannot go very far back: our thoughts of the government, the news and our country are inseparably tied to the late President. And we feel a personal loss just as acutely. To some of us the late President was an idol; to many he was the greatest figure we have known in our short years of awareness; to all he was a man who commanded our deepest respect.

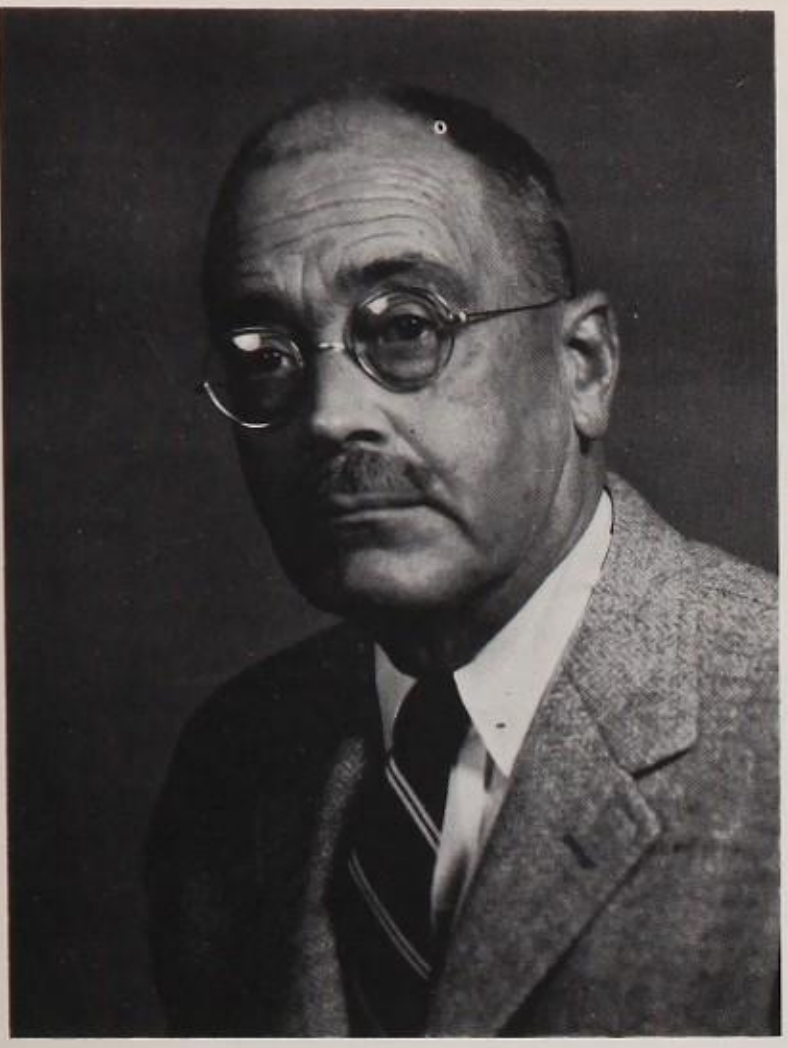
RETIRING

FACULTY

There are no few words or phrases which can sum up the influence of Emory Basford upon the uncounted number of students he has taught in his career at Phillips Academy. Having been associated with Andover since 1929, he significantly influenced the outlook and direction of the school during its years of major growth. A man of uncompromising moral standards and great understanding of human nature, he strove always to impress upon the minds of his students that education requires not only the learning of facts, but also the discovery of values. His concern was with teaching judgment, with inspiring in boys the will to "live creatively," to seek what is "first rate," and to shun that which is shabby and compromising.

One of Andover's finest English teachers, Mr. Basford's motivation was his simple love and affection for his students. Just, yet compassionate, he sought to remind us all that our actions must always be considered in terms of responsibility to others. His teaching and association with boys were his whole life, and his influence has stretched us far beyond the confines of our scholastic environment. In a few short years Andover will be teaching students who may never have heard the name Emory Basford, yet he will not be forgotten. Mr. Basford will be loved and respected by innumerable men whose paths have crossed, however briefly, with his. We salute a fine gentleman, scholar, and friend, who retired in 1964 after thirty-five years of dedicated service to Phillips Academy.



Mr. Floyd Thurston Humphries retired at the end of the 1963-64 school year after twenty-seven years of devotion to the French Department, its students and all of Phillips Academy. In the classroom he was renowned for his strict yet effective teaching methods which classified him as one of the last of the truly great schoolmasters. Outside Samuel Phillips Hall he was an indefatigable supporter of all levels of Andover's athletic teams. Mr. Humphries also was the very popular housemaster of French House, where boys who knew him best found a true friend.

As one of the earliest directors of the Andover Summer Session, and as the officially elected representative of the faculty on the Alumni Council, Mr. Humphries has served his school with enviable spirit and dedication. After almost three decades of vigorous yet gentle labor on behalf of Phillips Academy he has taken up a well-deserved retirement. We, the Senior Class, and all of Phillips Academy, thank him and pay tribute to him for his kindness, perseverance, and devotion.

This low-pressure class didn't lead any riots or experience any civil wars, but it had a special light spirit of its own, and the year contained many memorable periods of excitement. A chain letter, which reaped one senior eighty dollars of effortless profit, bloomed around campus until the market dried up. The Exeter football game signup produced many hot debates over the individual's obligations. Bottle cap flicking became the class sport. Spring Term was marked by a lovely sluggishness and nightly bridge sessions. Drinking flashed as a fad, and then died out before anyone was hurt, and the Class went on to graduate with the smallest percentage ever not receiving diplomas. The Underwood Room became a traditional part of PA life in its first full year of operation. Although faculty-student relations were excellent, each dorm had its own series of quarrels with and pet stories about respective housemasters. And who will ever forget and when will everyone get rid of the amazing dialect that ranged in Andover conversation. Communication with "hardly's," "not so nice's," "in there's," and "city's" required the full use of intellectual agility in such unexpected places as Commons. Balloons at the Exeter game and at the last daily chapel, and an April Fool's Phillipian gave the class a record of imaginative pranks in good taste. The light, jovial tone of September through June was broken only upon the assassination of President Kennedy, a solemn tragedy that was observed by all as classes were called off for a day of mourning.

Little things, such as the weather for the Prom and Graduation, kept everyone's spirits high. The doers outnumbered the critics; respect, rather than jealousy or scorn, was the rule. Talent was everywhere. But nothing was more typical of the Class of 1964 than its love for soaking up the bennies in social harmony without ever catching on fire.

Now, as our appreciation of our years on the Hill has begun to increase in proportion with the square of the time since graduation, we continue, and in some rare cases begin, to feel a sense of immense pride and gratitude for having been a part of Phillips Academy.

To our parents, the Trustees, Alumni, and especially the Faculty of Phillips Academy we can say only a very humble "Thank you for the Experience." We now realize that the best tribute to the great men whom we have known is to follow their fine examples of "the great end and real business of living."

UNDERCLASSMEN

UPPERS

The school year of 1963-64 changed the Class of 1965 from playful lowers into college-minded seniors. Early in the fall those of us not back for early football proved that we were men by "butting off" in Riley Room. We brought our radios into the open, tackled History 3 and Physics, and absorbed a $75 repair bill for damage done to Mr. Fersh's VW by Johnson South. The beautiful weather throughout the fall was so dry that some of us got to play Mr. Forest Ranger by putting out fires in the Ward Reservation during odd hours of the night. Another "thing to do" was buying into the chain letter. "It can't miss," was the cry of both salesmen and buyers, but nevertheless it did miss, and a good number of us were "poorer but richer," said our non-buying classmates mockingly. The faculty also disapproved; "highly distasteful," said one upper housemaster.

In studio art we wrote our names upside down and backwards with our left hands, while the other co-ordinated members of our class helped the fall teams to good seasons. Soccer goalies Snavely and Gallaudet split halves until Gallaudet was posted, and Snavely went on to become the 1964 captain. Kitson and Chestnut played consistently both ways for football, and former quarterback Evans became a starting defensive lineman. Class Vice-President Dan Warren insured an Interwoven Sweater by nailing a first string defensive end slot. Kit Meade creamed the opposition in the Draper contest, and began to investigate the possibilities for a Drivers' Education course. MacNelly drew pictures for the first Mirror from photographs of Mel's various food-throwing shots, and Paul Revere North and Johnson South contested for the title of Demerit-Happiest dorm on campus.

As the despondic snow of January filtered down, the school discovered it had fine upper talent, such as trumpeters Buckman and Turbeville. Swimmers Mahoney and Phillips bolstered a great team, and J. J. Brenner reeled out of Stearns House to star for the round ball squad. Colby Snyder vaulted 12'6", and Court Dixon's racquetmen squashed Exeter twice. Terry Bagg and Stu McLean starred in Julius Caesar, and the Taylor East jocks starred at the Dorm Singing Contest by singing worse than the Will Hallers. As the term drew to a close, various new dorm types ground vocabulary for the March SAT tests, which fell in the same week as finals and the National Merit Scholarship Exam. However, for most of the term we just awaited Spring.

After vacationing in Bermuda or Stowe, uppers returned to a non-proctored dining hall, and were able to keep the privilege despite several food-throwing incidents. Double captain-elect, New England high-scoring lacrosse attackman, and Vice-President Dan Warren held a class dance in April. Encouraged, uppers rallied to constitute the largest prom-going crowd, even though Warren invited two girls. Wrestler and defensive stickmen Dick Barnum sang a lead in My Fair Lady, but Darrel Salk's antics as Mr. Doolittle stole the show. Prominent spearmen Morgan, Leary and MacNelly were the first to be turned down for Bartlet triples, which were eventually won by Aranow, Madison, and Rorimer; and Allen, Hudner and MacLean after Bannon and Chestnut left school. Burkhard amazed the masses in the Means Essay contest by coaxing angels onto the head of a pin.

Arras moved from Panama to Madrid, and declared himself mathematically thirty times as fine a lacrosse goalie as "Cosmo." Bud Kellet received a 4% on a physics test, and his roommate Bill Bonnett grew a goatee. Chapel speaker Rafferty arranged a stickball game with the Concord lasses, but his ego fell as the Blue stickballers were overcome. The uppers became elected and appointed officials, who were burdened with the pleasant task of trying to make 1964-1965 as great a school year as 1963-64.

Our thanks to the members of '64 for being such good examples.

LOWERS

When the summer ran out, we came back to the bells, the Armillary Sphere, and B-House—lowers. The greeting was another salvo of "Hey, Prep!" but this time it was "Hardly, lad" except for the forty per cent who ducked for the first time and squeeked "Who, me?" Ex-Will Hallers compared suntans with old friends while the confused preps toted Frigidaires and day beds up the Hill. But as the World Series bets were paid off and the Exeter Safari was previewed by Big Brother Bush, preps and old boys in the same math classes and on the same football team learned that they were the same lowers.

The Fall Term was a long one, and two of us thought it was a little too long and left in the same week. The term seemed even longer when Exeter took football; so a few of us who had read Sports Intimidated's interview with Mel properly affixed some butter to the ceiling of Commons the night after the game. We united to foot the cleaning bill of ten cents apiece. Mr. Harrison made our preps the first in history to go through the rigors of Phys Ed.

Mickey Mouse began making personal appearances on the Armillary Sphere and on Sam Phil garbage cans thanks to his lower proponents. Everyone started praying for the already late snow for sweet revenge in the Junior-Lower snowball fight. When it came, Mr. Bennett arrived just in time at the Old Campus to stop the nightime march on Will Hall. We had to overrun the West Quad Uppers.

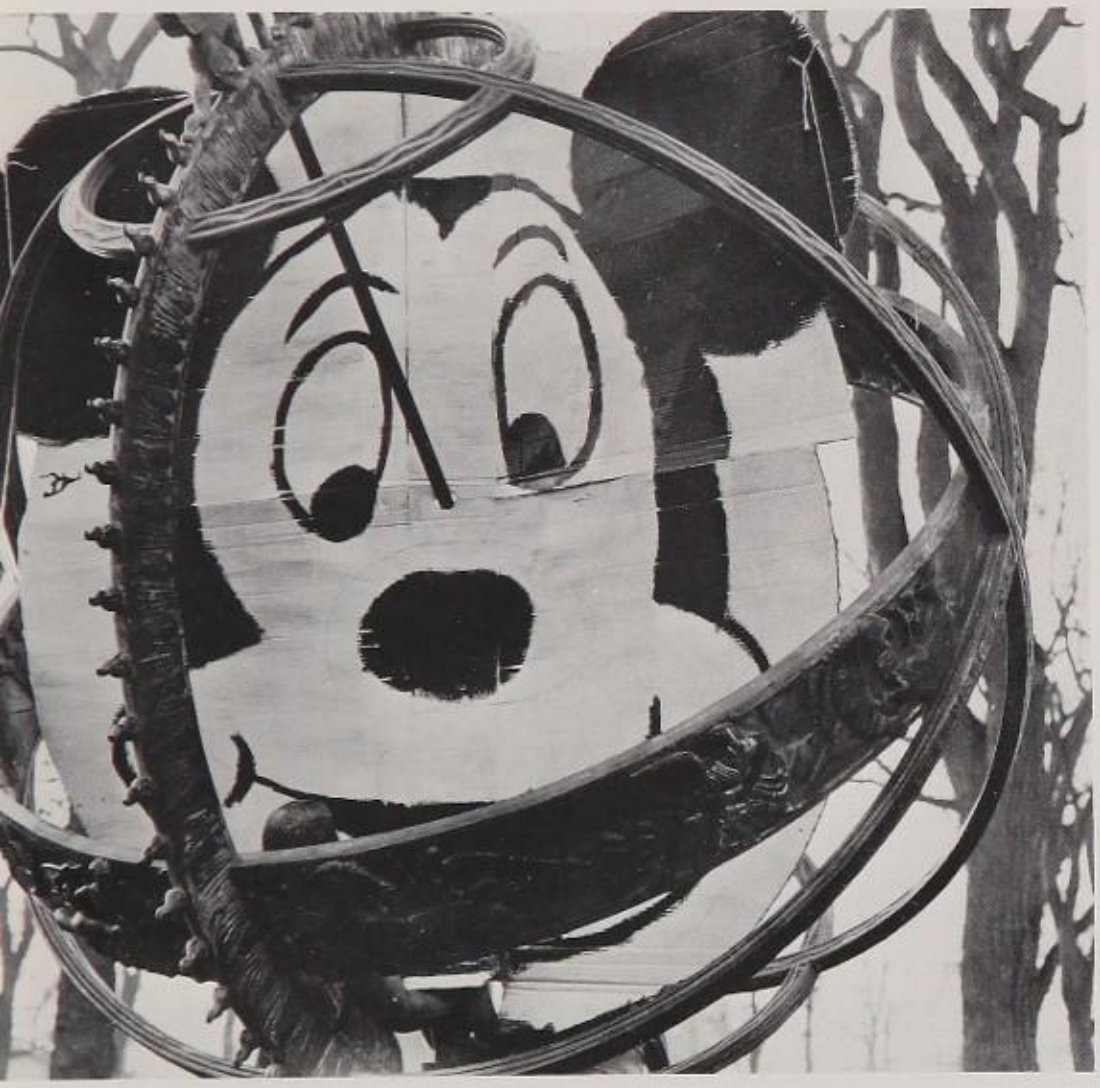
The President died that Friday and we all had a day off we didn't want.

Winter came and we nearly got lost on that long, cold trip back to America House in the driving snow on icy paths. The active class dance committee set up several dances, but the girls decided they didn't want our German measles. While one of us helped spearhead the Bach movement, most shot it down with the Bird in Benner House.

The winter became slow with nothing more for excitement than getting kicked out of the Library or waking up to six more inches of unplowed powder. Winter sports provided a good valve for our steam, and our class had many standouts. Out on the hockey rink we made up seven-fourteenths of the team and helped it to its Lawrenceville Championship. Lower swimming star John Noll led the record smashers of this year's fantastic team.

When we came back from our second vacation, the snow was all gone and we knew that the grind was over. The Spring Term was actually as long as its predecessor, but no one was aware of that. We created the dial of the Sam Phil clock in Mickey Mouse's image. Two of us felt a little too much freedom and were found hitchhiking to Salisbury Beach one weekend. Homework didn't mean much, so water fights began to take over as the biggest attraction of the library. Stickball found varsity jocks on lower teams making seven errors a game and a certain Honor Roll grind taking the Most Valuable Player award.

In June the final exams foreclosed on our year's knowledge and we ventured on allnighters. Then, with some of us just sixty hours away from vacation, Mr. Kemper dropped a bomb on us: No Smoking for our class and everyone after us. The addicted cried, but most of us didn't care; after all, we had four days plus a summer vacation before we returned as responsible uppers.



NEDRA

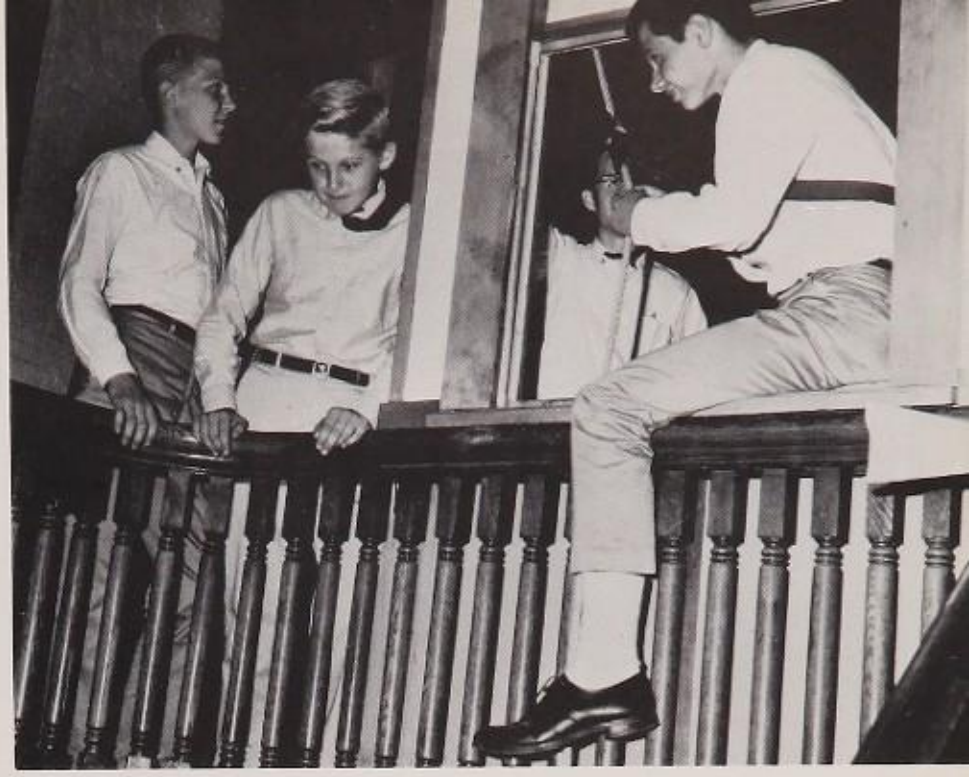
Cross (Vice-President), Chamberlain (President).

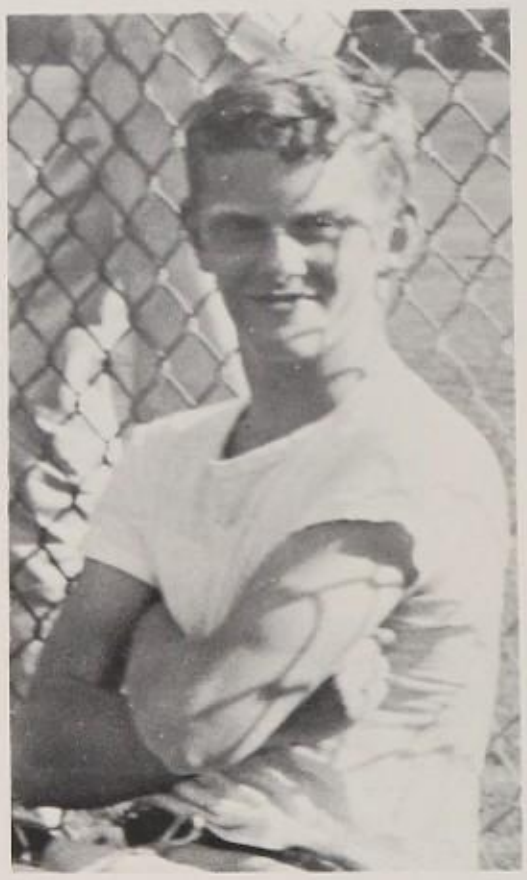
The class of 1967 arrived at Andover, and almost before we had bid our parents goodby, we had become a part of the school. Greeted by cries of "Prep!" and "Zoom!", we smiled encouragingly at each other as we went through the special Senior torture called prepping. Within a few days, however, we had begun to hate Commons, know where Benner House was, be curious where the sanctuary was, and start to leave our mark on Andover.

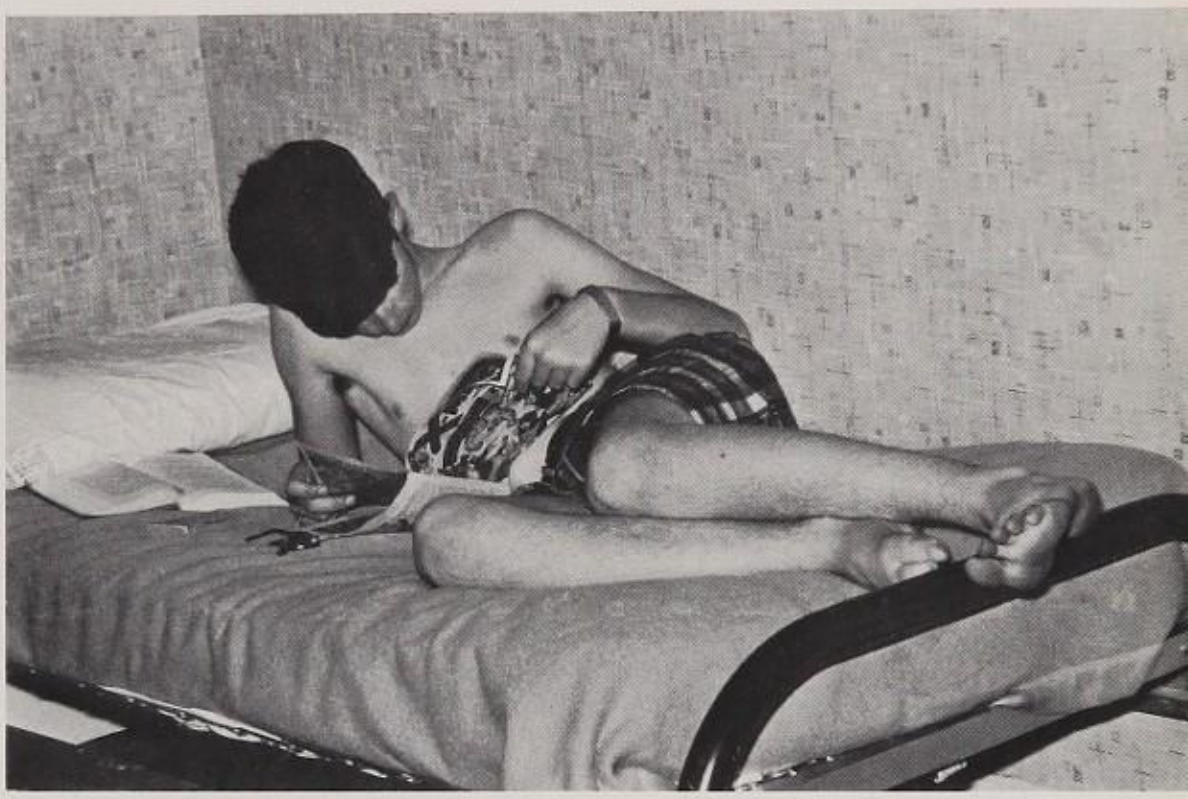
As we became more familiar with each other, our class began to jell. We enthusiastically participated in the athletic program, and both Junior Football and Soccer had good seasons despite mediocre won-lost records. When not in or at our own games we thronged to watch the varsity sports. A sense of pride in the school, especially in the varsity teams, was beginning to creep into us, and this reached a height in the Exeter football game. The guts the team showed in barely losing to the "hired hands" made a deep impression upon us. With this still on our minds we turned to face our first finals, and after struggling through we headed home for our first full vacation.

Minus one member, we returned three weeks later and settled down for our long winter's nap. Mr. Leete greeted us with his usual "winter wonderland" of goodies, which helped only to confirm that we were back. We didn't sleep long, however, before we were awakened by the varsity teams. From the lips of everyone we heard "Root," and so we poured out in great numbers to see him, howling with glee everytime he dunked the ball. Inspired, our own teams began to work harder, and soon hockey and basketball were giving their opponents a rough time. Dick Trafton starred in all events on Varsity Skiing, while "Stretch" was shattering records for JV Swimming. Then Brutus assassinated Caesar, and we realized that the term was half over. The lowers, meanwhile came over and challenged us with snowballs. Although grossly outnumbered, we fought to the bitter end, which often came very quickly. By now we were so busy high jumping, sprinting and throwing the discus in Junior Phys Ed that we forgot completely about sleeping the term away. With exams in sight we sweated the last week and were on our way again.

Less work, better weather, great athletic teams, and a new black Mustang welcomed us back to PA. Breaking out our shorts and lacrosse sticks, we eagerly anticipated our hack term. We had heard some strange stories about drownproofing, however, and we entered "Wetmore's Torture Chamber" cautiously. It didn't take us long to find out that even that was fun. The Spring also brought a harvest of junior jocks. Blakeslee and Mears bolstered a powerful tennis team, while Holkins swung a big club for golf. Junior Baseball, behind strong pitching, finished the season undefeated, and Junior Lax lost only one game. Meanwhile the Movers and the Rejects, our two stickball teams, entered "Tweeds Tourney" and did well against ringer-studded senior teams. The inevitable aroma of vacation hit us, and as Bunyan's Christian, we fell into the Slough of Despond before exams. We pulled out of it long enough to cheer Varsity Lacrosse, the best in Andover's history, in its hard fought loss to Exeter. By then we were well on the road to Salvation, and making it through finals, we reached our Celestial City, realizing, but not caring, that in three short months we would be Lowers.







ACTIVITIES

STUDENT CONGRESS

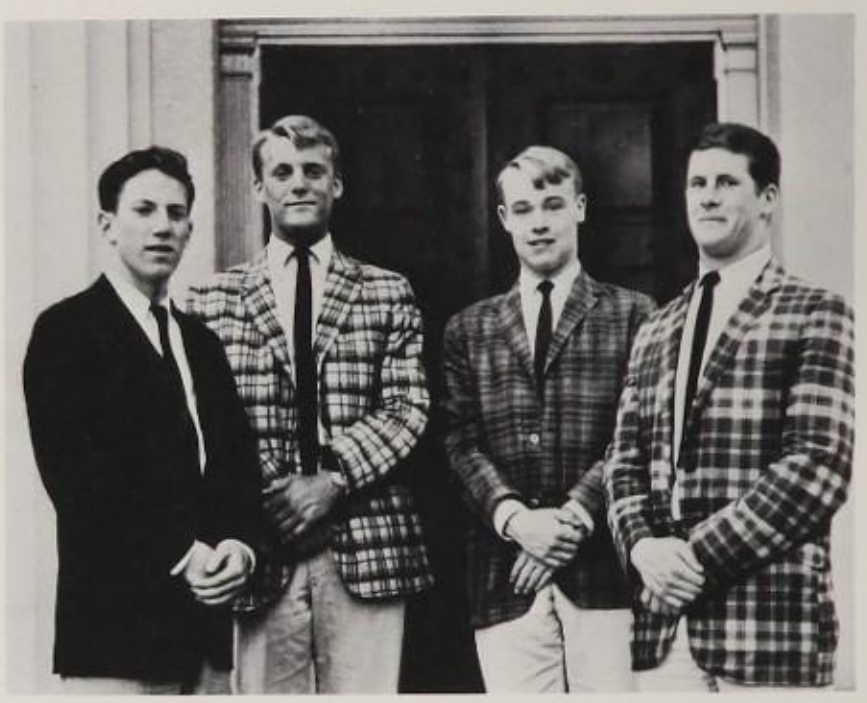
First Term



Huvelle, Everett, Franchot, Fleming (President).
Second Term

The 1963-1964 Student Congress began the year by instituting rigorous parliamentary procedure during the weekly meetings. After some early confusion, the representatives mastered the methods, and the efficiency of the Congress greatly increased. Lengthy, repititious discussion was avoided by appointing committees to investigate matters closely.

Kit Meade headed a hard-working committee that examined the possibility of driver education at Andover. The Honor Roll Day Committee, led by Bob Marshall, made several proposals for revamping the honor roll and proctor day privileges. Although both committees had much student support, their suggestions were turned down by the faculty. Other committees drafted procedures for the election of class officers and discussed the possibility of an Honor System at PA.

The Student Congress provided many services for the student body. Dick Howe's Gym Committee supervised the gym and pool on weekends during the winter. The Congress also conducted the dorm singing contest, directed campus cleanup and snow removal campaigns, and helped to publicize the Independent Work Program. The greatest success of the year was the class pin sale, which by netting over two hundred dollars earned this year's government the distinction of being the first solvent Student Congress in recent years.

Phillips Society Drive Nets $7100 For Needy

November 8, 1963

The Phillips Society spent a very active year in devoted service to the needy, the community, the school, and its guests. L. E. Sawyer headed PA's largest organization, and was aided by a staff of hard-working committeemen.

Dick Fleming's Charities Drive Committee tactfully raised a record $7100 from the student body on the eve of the Exeter football game. The money was contributed to charities throughout the world varying from The Greater Lawrence Fund to Yale in China. The Infirmary Committee, headed by Sandy Greene and John Carr, operated at a high degree of efficiency with the increased help of underclassmen. The Open Door and the House Committees continued to provide their invaluable services, while Dick Brodhead's Open House Committee helped Mrs. Stott with the weekly teas in the new Brooks Hall Room of Cooley House.

Dan Badger's Community Service Committee and Paul Gallagher's Reception Committee provided the most improved service of the Phillips Society. Badger's committee held two old clothes drives and an old book drive, established a corps of volunteers to work in local hospitals, and sponsored the visits of boys from the Perkins Institute and the Lawrence Boys Club. The Reception Committee provided excellent substitute student guide service, and was highly praised for its hospitality during the PA entrance exams and Alumni Weekend. With almost one quarter of the student body as its membership, the Phillips Society may be proud of its excellent service record in 1963-1964.

POT POURRI

Back: Harte, Piehler, MacNelly, Wright, Pei, Morey, Adler. Front: Trimble, Raymond, Kenna, Grinberg (Editor), Sapienza, Fry, Carr.

1964 will be remembered as the year of the Independence of the Pot Pourri, for a Revolution of unsurpassed size siezed control of tradition. Leader of the rebels was Don Grinberg, who allowed democracy to creep into his Graves Hall, Bartlet North, and White Plains and Lewiston, N. Y. offices. Suggestions and even criticism were given full attention, but quite often monarchy was restored. ("We, meaning I, decide who the class girl will be.") Although hampered by athletic interests in the Winter and Spring, Grinberg's unending energy and ability to coax his staff to help finally enabled the book to be completed. The '64 staff was aided by a record-breaking thirty underclassmen, who contributed valuable ideas.

More important than the Revolution in organization was the Revolution in the book itself. Color was sacrificed for size, cover and internal layouts were altered, and new eye-catching devices were used.

Instrumental in initiating the changes were Executive Editor Lee Kenna and Senior Editor John Carr, whose chief responsibilities were the activities, faculty, and senior sections. Kenna was Grinberg's right hand man during the Winter and Spring track seasons, and Carr managed to tear himself away from his senior social whirl to do a considerable amount of work. Literary Editor Andy Raymond and Circulation Manager-Editor Terry Trimble, for athletic or spiritual reasons, often avoided the Pottie, but Raymond eventually learned how to spell, and with the help of Seth Mydans managed to complete most of the witty articles. Trimble's glory came early in the fall, when he sold almost eight hundred books. Tim Fry defied his title of Associate Editor, and defected to the Advertising Department, where he was extremely useful.

Although at first Business Manager Tony Sapienza thought he would have to maintain tradition by the use of deficit financing, he somehow managed to break all income records to leave the longest Pot Pourri ever in the black. Sap revolutionized the Business Department, too, by writing every Andover parent for patronages, and by getting eight underclassmen to work for him.

However, to Didi Pei must go most of the credit for the true substance of the 1964 Pot Pourri. Rooming across from Grinberg, Pei was able to determine (he had no choice) what his chief wanted, and as a result he produced pictures of such quantity and quality that he is responsible for more pictures in this book than all the other student photographers combined. Ed Adler, Chris Harte, Geoff Stein and Mark Melamed also worked very hard considering that they were not seniors. Whenever the shutterbugs couldn't produce, Grinberg would yell "Get MacNelly to draw it," and Jeff had a great year with his pen, but had to produce three times the number of drawings that were eventually used in the book.

It was a hectic but satisfying year, and we hope that all enjoy the 1964 Pot Pourri as much as the staff enjoyed making it.

Thirty-five seniors plus assorted underclass dregs fought and slaved faithfully and diligently, and in the end had produced one of Andover's all-time accomplishments: they published 35 issues of the Phillipian under the tyranny of Seth the Master Mydans. Mydans raised the weekly tabloid from the depths and claimed chief credit for the mature, deep editorials; accurate, complete, and lively reporting; vivid pictures; and steady stream of surprise and wit that brought praise of the Phillipian to the high point in the history of PA publications. Actually, all the little dictator did was to write clever, suggestive "ears" for each issue and to make sure that none of the other board members got their way.

Editor Bob Marshall set himself up as a god by massacring articles handed in by underclassmen and by pumping out full-page, long-sentenced, and unread editorials in an effort to protect his ego from the monarch's attacks. Layout man Rich Bissell designed 218 beautiful pages under the double handicap of having the kibitzing king as roommate. Money-grubbing John Eichleay somehow balanced the books despite Mydan's mad love of extras. Jon Bixby executed the thankless task of transplanting the boss's wishes for the equally prima donnish reporters. Sin and sophistication editor Bryce Muir always kept a safe distance from the Graves Hall hangout as he kept coming up with Sunday night desperation editorials. Sportsmen Jeff Garten and Tom Carothers built their own headquarters, their own system of senior writers, and their own language in an obviously defensive effort.

Only the spirited folders escaped Mydans' taunts, but it is questionable whether Edwards and Kroll were any better or kinder slavedrivers. It was thus no surprise when the Seniors and even faculty advisor Emory Basford thankfully quit after the Winter Term leaving with their petty President the yoke they had worn in making an invaluable, unforgettable contribution to Phillips Academy.

DRAMA WORKSHOP

Handicapped by the reputation obtained from the 1963 prom plays. the optimistic, cocky and overconfident members of the Drama Workshop worked diligently to produce a series of memorable productions which made the Workshop one of the chief contributors to Andover entertainment. The driving but silent forces of president-director-producer Jon Guss, utility man Chris Teuber, and the helpful advice from Mr. Hallowell enabled the club to function with brilliant activity and success.

One of the rare co-ed clubs, the Workshop attracted the Abbot talent and presented "Hello, Out There," a Soroyan tragedy directed by Jon Guss. Introducing Randy Clark as the year's most promising actor, "Hello" was followed by "In the Zone." "The Lottery," and the Abbot-Andover program's biggest success, "Riders to the Sea." Directed by Amy Johnson, "Riders" was acted in a theater-in-the-round, the Workshop's most sophisticated experiment.

PA theater-going became a regular activity as the active club presented "The Fatal Gazogene, or Pas- sion, Poison, and Petrification," and "The Ages of Man." The curious socialites who ventured into the Drama Lab on prom weekend enjoyed the Workshop's variety show, and were glad they had discovered PA's hidden talent. The year's climax came with the three presentations of "Antigone," which was highlighted by Randy Clark as Creon. Englishman Cobbold's production also featured the most mythological creature of the Senior Class, "Appollo, Sun God" Kelley, whose presence might account for the SRO at the three performances. As graduates Guss, Teuber, Kelley, Lee, Pat Cathcart, Roehrig, Gage, Tonken and Cutler left PA in June, the Drama Workshop had earned well the honor of being PA's most improved club.

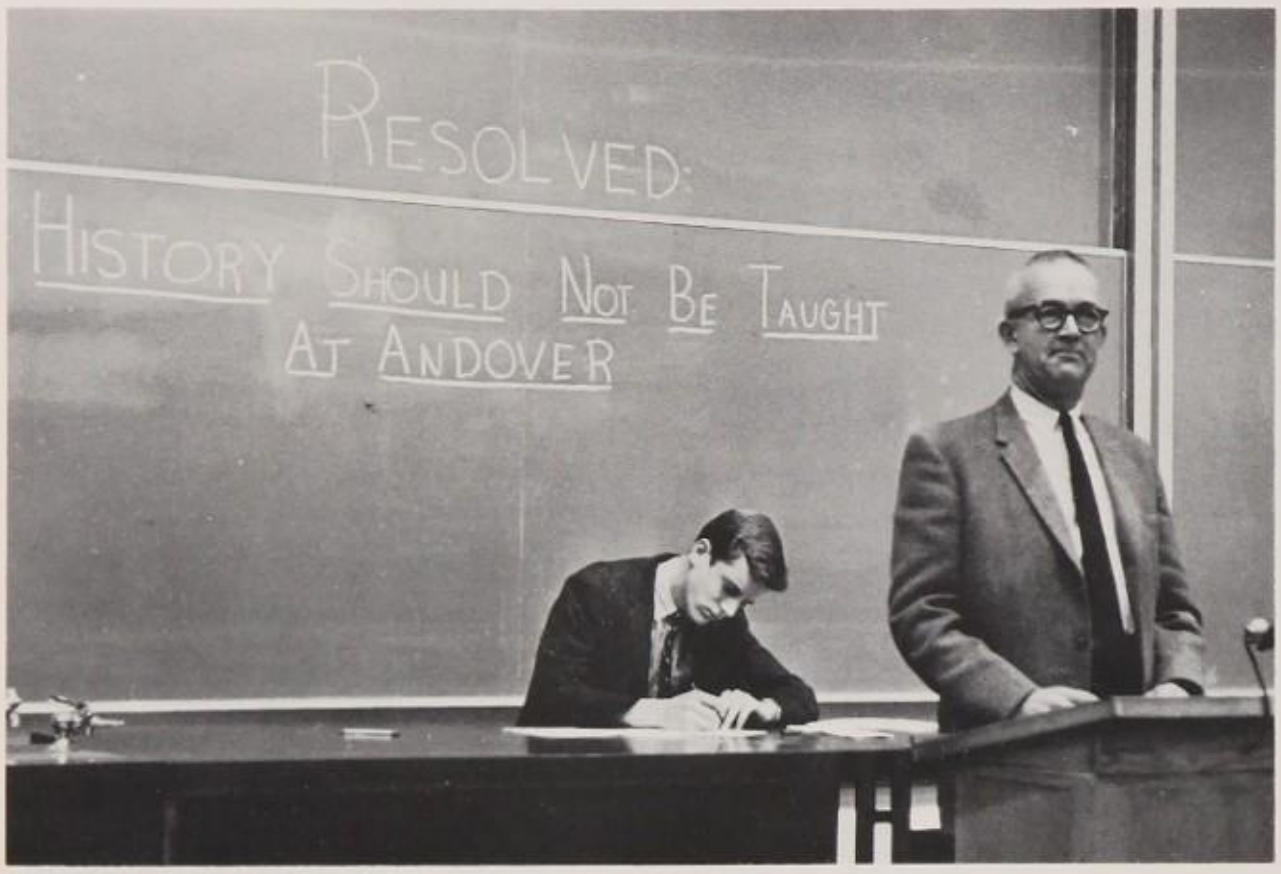
PHILOMATHIAN SOCIETY



An unexpected change occurred in Andover debating when Philo, PNYX, and Forum merged in mid-winter. Both debating clubs had had successful fall terms. Philo began the year with a big membership drive that gave the society more members than it had had in ten years. It continued the tradition of weekly debates and ran a spirited training group for fifty-six boys under Vice President Pete Schandorff's direction. Outside matches were held with Brooks, Governor Dummer, Mount Hermon and Abbot. In the Abbot contest PA successfully defended the negative position on the topic, "Andover Men are More Manly than Exeter Men." The annual Will Hall-Rockwell debate was held before an enthusiastic Junior audience as victorious Will Hall amazingly took the negative in resolving "Anything a Rockwellite Can Do, a Will Hall Man Can Do Better." Moving into literary fields, Philo revived the debating review and published two issues. The 139 year-old debating society's representation in the Student Congress and Advisory Board was challenged . . . and successfully defended.

PNYX concentrated its efforts of debating alone with its strong nucleus of experienced and versatile debaters. Besides weekly debates held on humorous and serious topics, such as "A Rolling Stone Gathers No Moss," there was a debate with Dana Hall on the worth of private schools. In the most dramatic and best-attended debate of the year, PNYX vs. the History Department, PNYX challenged History stalwarts Allis, Richards, and Royce to affirm that "History Should Not be Taught at Andover." PNYX ended the Fall Term with a hilarious display of polemics in resolving "There is a Santa Claus."

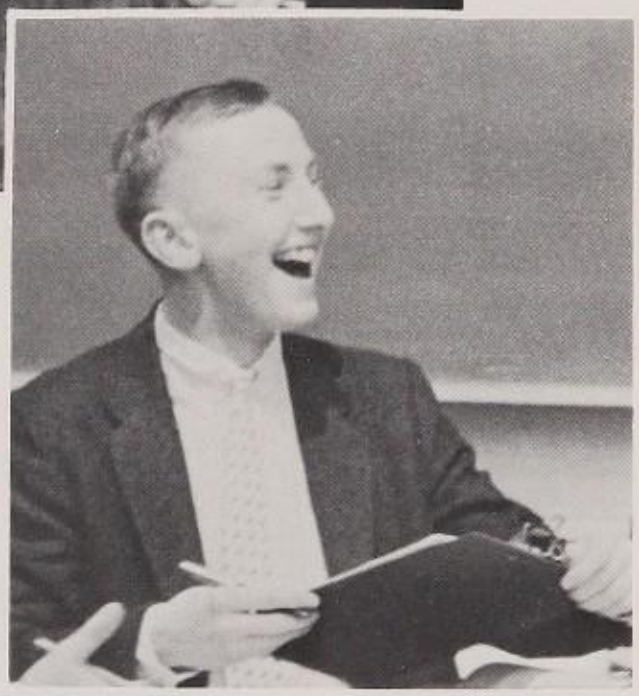
By the end of November it was clear that there was room for two active societies. However, both Jeff Garten of Philo and Laurent Alpert of PNYX felt that the existence of two clubs was not beneficial to debating, and that an excessive rivalry had been in many instances harmful. Plans were made to merge the two societies, and then Forum was invited to join the new organization. Forum's one lecturer in the Fall Term was Gordon Hall, who spoke on "Extremism in the Far Right." Having had difficulties in getting other speakers, Forum felt it would do better to join a larger society.

By the end of January the members of each club had approved the merger, and Forum's Tim Wolf was elected president for the remainder of the year. The organization, given the name Philomathean Society to preserve tradition, was to be devoted to "debate forms and lectures." Beginning its activities immediately, the new Philo held weekly prepared debates as before, and introduced a program of extemporaneous debates. A guest speaker discussed the American political scene with a small group of students, and during Spring Vacation PA was represented for the first time at a national debate tournament.



Philo, Pnyx, Forum Merge; Create New Centralized Debating Discussion Society

February 4, 1964

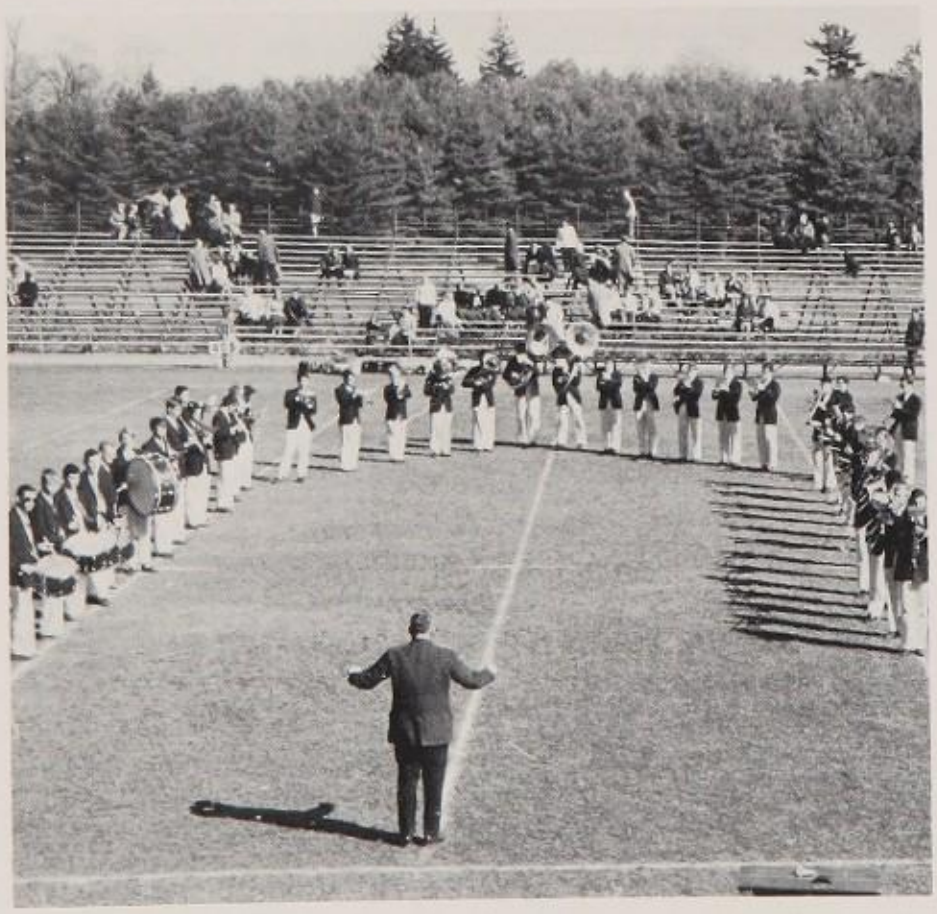
In the Spring Term the annual Andover-Exeter debates ("The Existence of Private Schools is a Contradiction of Our Democratic Ideals") were both won by the Red on split decisions. The year's activities ended with the traditional Robinson Prize Debate which was won by Schandorff, Richards, and Burkhart who proved that "Economic Sanctions Against Cuba Should Be Continued." 1963-64 was a dramatic year with a full and varied schedule, and one in which a merger ended an obsolete and crippling rivalry.

BAND

Able to withstand PA cynicism because of its excellence, the band of 1963-1964 has been rated by many as Andover's best. At football games the boys in the blue blazers featured triple-tonguing trumpet ringers Turbeville, Buckman and Latvis, and for once fans began to look and listen at halftime. Especially pleasing to Andover supporters was the Exeter halftime show in which the PA boys put the red to shame with a tiny "e" formation. Strong brass and woodwind sections enabled the talented band to vary its programs from rock 'n roll to dixie to show tunes. "When the Saints" was the most popular selection of the season as Buckman and Turbeville ad libbed in the best Dixie style. The fall activities ended at Rogers Hall where the band combined for a dinner, dance, and concert with the Rogers Hall Chorus.

Winter sickness caused Beaver to cancel its scheduled dance, and Walnut Hill postponed until the spring. The fourteen members of Dave Gang's peppy pep band remained very active as they played for basketball contests, often bi-weekly. The whole band rehearsed seriously for the Andover-Deerfield concert which was held at Deerfield in February. A PA first rescued winter morale, especially in the horn section, when two girls from Abbot joined the all-male organization.

As the Spring Term began, the band practiced frantically for its busy schedule. The Walnut Hill Chorus and the PA band combined for an excellent concert and dance. Soon afterward the band gave its first Wednesday Assembly concert to an unusually enthusiastic audience. A week later it combined with the chorus and orchestra in a benefit concert aiding the North Andover High School's Scholarship Fund. In the Memorial Day parade PA boasted the best sounding and looking band which marched proudly in anticipation of the long awaited steak dinner.



ORCHESTRA

Mr. Dewitt Thorton's Orchestra enjoyed a most unusual season this year because of the extraordinary amount of individual talent among its ranks. Moreover, the programs offered were of a more varied and difficult nature. The first concert was held at Dana Hall where the orchestra played the exciting overture from Mozart's The Magic Flute, and then combined with the Dana School of Music Orchestra to complete a flawless performance of Corelli's Adagio and Allegro, Opus 6; Moussorgsky's The Great Gate of Kiev; and finally, with the chorus, Gloria and Et in Terra Pax from Vivaldi's The Gloria.

Barely a month later the orchestra presented a program of concerti in the Addison Art Gallery. Sparkling performances of Vivaldi's Concerto for Piccolo by James Haley, Fussan's Concertino for flute and string orchestra by David Knapton, and Beethoven's Romance for violin and orchestra were climaxed by Didi Pei's performance of Mozart's Clarinet Concerto. The Vivaldi, Beethoven, and Mozart were played once again at a benefit concert at the North Andover High School.

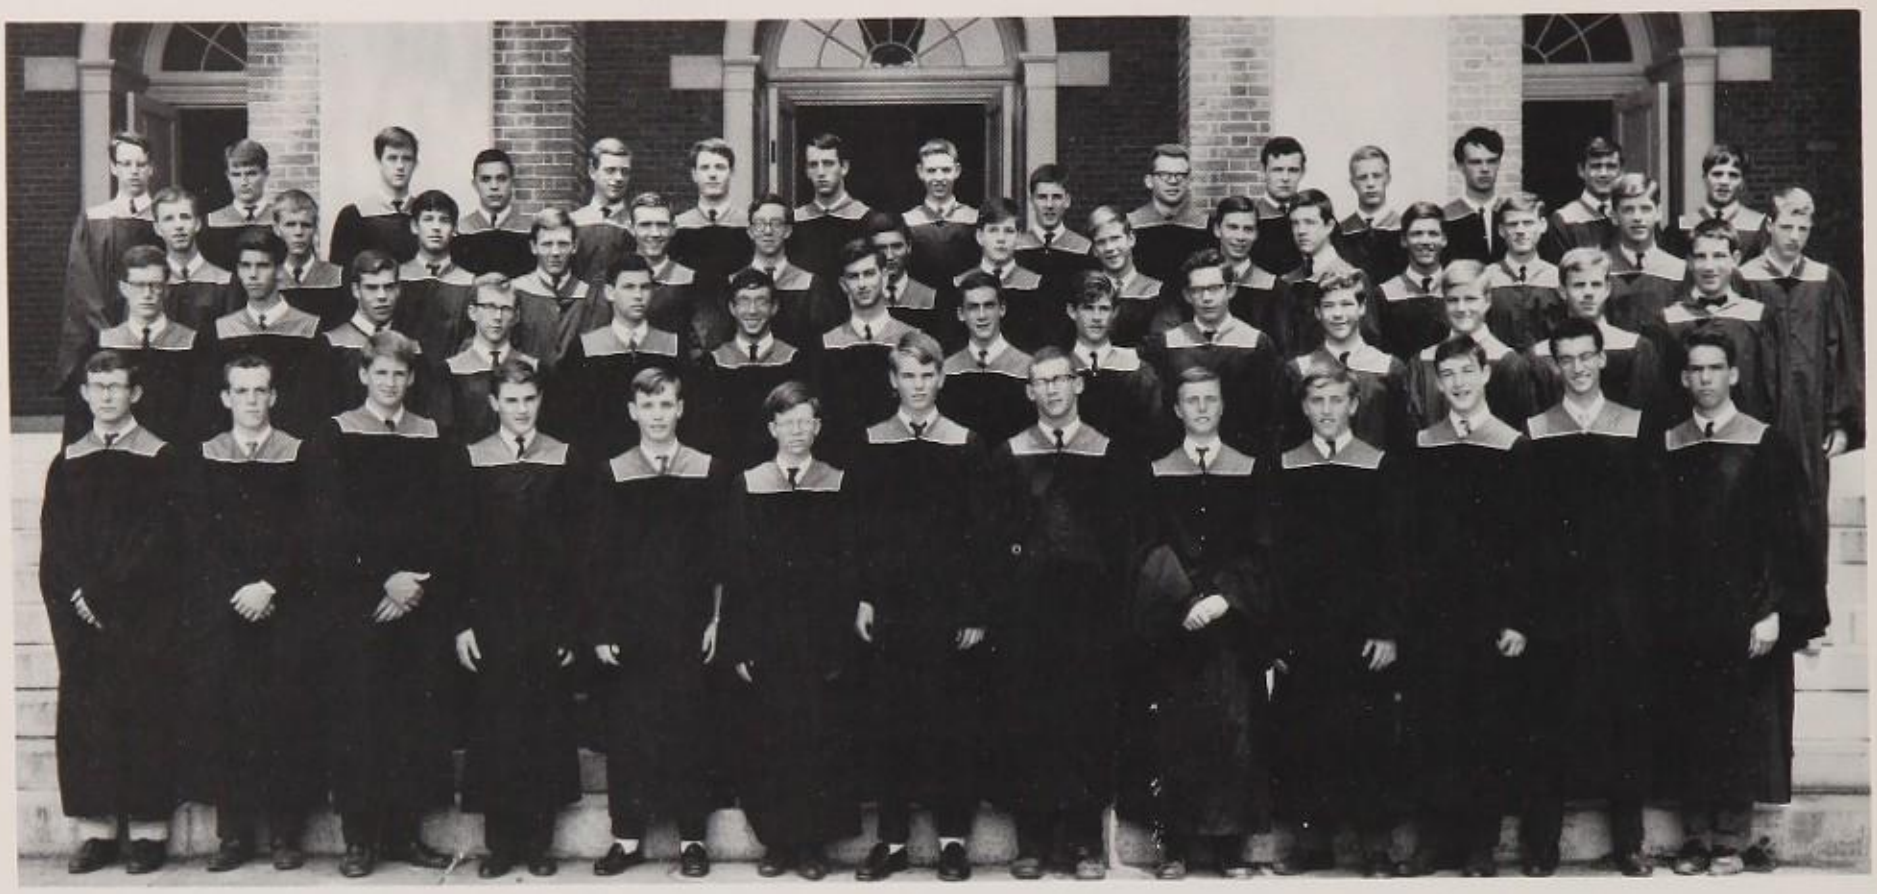
The high point of the year for the serious musicians was the concert of the New England Prep School Festival Orchestra at Groton. Although all the PA instrumentalists were newcomers to this all-prep orchestra, four of the eight who represented Andover managed to cop first chair berths. The three hour performance of My Fair Lady brought praise from all for the superb playing of the pit orchestra which was said to be the most professional sounding part of the excellent amateur production. To Mr. Schneider must go much credit for molding a group of excellent musicians into a more superb orchestra.



CHORUS

Termed the best chorus yet by many, the 1963-64 Chorus had a large number of experienced voices of high quality. Led by Co-Presidents Frank Holland and Dick Howe and Secretary Dan Badger, the Chorus had few panic stricken Sunday morning rehearsals. Dividing its time equally between sacred and secular music, the Chorus maintained a high standard of singing throughout the year.

The Chorus started with its usual Sunday anthems, and climaxed early in the year with Vivaldi's "Gloria," sung with Abbot's Fidelio Society. The concern for notes and basics became secondary as director Mr. Schneider showed the group the nuances of professional singing. The Chorus sang a sacred program for the Groveland Congregational Church and then for a benefit concert for the North Andover Scholarship Fund. For the first time the Chorus performed at daily chapel, rendering a distinguished "Create in Me a Clean Heart." The highlight of the year's sacred music occurred during the Senior Service when the seniors sang Dan Badger's "Introit," and then joined the rest of the choir to powerfully finish 1964 with "Make a Joyful Sound."

Secular activities included joint concerts with Dana Hall and Walnut Hill Schools. The piece de resistance was My Fair Lady, for which the Chorus provided the basis. Closing on the social side, the Chorus had an all-you-can-eat steak cookout.

APOSTLES

Although the incredible group pictured here was far from holy (seventeen postings, six no excuses, and three probations), they called themselves the APOSTLES. Perhaps the name was appropriate, for this was a group with a message — and a beat. Organized in the winter of 1963, the APOSTLES first reached fame at the start of the 1963-1964 school year, playing weekly for dances both at PA and Abbot. The APOSTLES climaxed their rise to fame with a fantastic, stomping, shouting, soul-filled performance on the G.W. stage in the Spring Term. After the memorable concert, a few rocking dances were preludes to the release of the tremendous record, The APOSTLES on Crusade.

The APOSTLES were led by senior Bob "Sun-God" Kelley, a piano-playing Californian who organized the group in 1963. Bringing the "Soul-Sound" of the South was Joe Freeman, the group's wild vocalist. The guitar section consisted of the Watusi Warriors: John Morgan, lead; Bob Donaldson, rhythm; and Terry "Tarzan" Thomas, base. Perhaps the most exciting part of the APOSTLES was the versatile sax playing of Ralph Davis (tenor) and Dave Luden (alto), who were responsible for great APOSTLES' standards such as "Night Train" and "Watermelon Man." Permeating the entire group was the constant driving beat of Cai Underwood's drums. Here indeed was an extraordinary group, whose varied repertoire included songs by everyone from James Brown to Bongo Santa Maria. The memory of the successful crusading of the APOSTLES throughout the year in healthy competition with the other rock 'n roll group will live forever.

8 'N' 1

As Andover's only student-run musical organization operating on a rational basis, the 8'n'1 sang its way through one of its most irrational years in a long while. Appearing often and in varied settings, the group became famous for its controversial "Bennie's From Heaven," and nauseating "Istanbul."

New this year were a Greenwich weekend over Spring vacation during which the 1964 record was made, and a successful integration experiment with Abbot in which the 8'n'1 combined with the Chanticleers for one performance. Other memorable performances included appearances at the Prom's Friday night entertainment and at the Senior's "Cash Paid For Old Rags" during Commencement week. Although often criticized for its lack of variety, the performances of the 8'n'1 were enjoyed by all girls on the Hill if not by the cynical PA student body.

MODERN JAZZ QUINTET

The Modern Jazz Quintet, organized in the fall of 1963 by Bill Ballard, had the distinction of playing more for itself than for its audiences. However, the permeating sound of the group captivated audiences as well as the group itself at the Russian Club dance and at the drama lab entertainment on Friday night of Prom Weekend. In a school that had two and a half twang bands and two vocal groups, the Quintet provided a unique, fresh sound. Ballard's group thrived on the driving blues and the spirit of the music of Cannonball Adderly, Bobby Timmons, and Ray Charles, but often the Quint played a Miles Davis or a Gerry Mulligan number.

With Bill Ballard on baritone sax and flute, Tom Buckman on trumpet, Bruce Phillips and later Ralph Davis on piano, and Pete Mele and later Cai Underwood on drums, the Quintet provided exciting listening to PA jazz enthusiasts, and occasionally even a classical musician was found tapping his foot to the Quintet's spirited sound.

NELM

Pictured above is the brawny staff of the 1964 NELM, which had a year of maximum frustration. Because of the conflicting athletic interests of Doug Brown, Tory Peterson, Steve Spare, R. L. Williams and Dick Reynolds, the NELM staff was beset by the loss of much of its talent. Unfortunately, a few of the remaining faithfuls found other diversions. From the early fall "College Bob" Auld held a symposium on "How To Get Into College . . ." which was faithfully attended by Toby Thatcher. Commissioner Bush and Umpire Hight of the Mirror were instrumental in enabling NELM to maintain its high standard of non-existence, although they spent most of their time in corrupting the League.

With only Pete Gerard, Bob Cottle, Bruno Babcock and Bruce Wylie remaining faithful, the 1964 NELM was finally completed early in June. However, because of its very limited financial resources, NELM was published in very limited quantities, most of which went to Exeter. Reports from the North indicate that the publication was quite successful, and Bob Cottle hoped that the 1965 staff would be able to sell the new issue in the fall of 1964.

SOUR GRAPES

The Sour Grapes, avowed rivals of the 8'n'1, have usually taken second place behind their cool competitors. After leaders Dick Howe and Kit Meade had chosen an enthusiastic group, the Sour Grapes rose to new and unexpected heights of success. Darrell Salk and Bart Loomis sang second bass, Gerry "What Is Love?" Cameron and Bob "The Voice" Chessman sang first. Sandy Greene assisted Meade and Howe at second tenor while Rick Davis, Bill Stowe, and later accompanist Pete Carl sang first tenor.

The Group made its debut in late October displaying, according to the Phillipian, "a freshness and ease new to the campus scene." The same article reported: "The 8'n'1 also performed . . ." After a resounding smash during fall exam week, The Grapes performed several times in the winter term. Their repertoire included an inspired rendition of "Mountain Dew" dedicated to the Senior Class. The group had a relatively inactive spring term.

TORQUÉS

The Torqués, led by Wolf Fulton and Randy Hobler, distinguished themselves by building the largest rock 'n roll group in the world. This gigantic conglomeration wrought profound changes on the PA campus. Dismayed chaperones found that there were so many clappers, singers and equipment carriers that the club members themselves could not attend their own dances. The school was further troubled by the riot which erupted before the Torqués performance of February 8th. There was open conflict on the steps of G.W. between the Bach-lovers and the Bird-lovers.

In addition to being ejected from Rogers Hall and Dana Hall for enticing the girls away from their minuets, the Torqués had other harrowing experiences. Once all twenty-two were practically arrested by a cultured cop for playing "Lonely Bull" at Logan Airport (where all birds belong). Another time they were overwhelmed and almost mauled in Scolly Square Station by a howling mob of fans who thought Jon Hay was Dick Dale and that the Torqués were his Del-tones. The coup de grâce was the Torqués variety-packed album which sold from France to Stanford to Abbot. Their career was by no means finished in 1964, however. They warn, as Emily Dickinson once did so wisely, "These are the days when birds come bach, a very few, a bird or two, to take a bach-ward look."

PEP BAND

In the fine tradition of Joe McGirt, Dave Gang organized PA's second great pep band, which was most active during the winter's basketball games. Tom Buckman was the group's standout, especially in "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Saints." In addition to playing excellent music, the pep band helped a dormant PA spirit to come to life. In the first A-E basketball encounter "Bleacher Boogie" Gary MacElhiney's umpahs so unnerved the Exies that their cheering section and team fell apart. "We knew we had done our job," said Gang, when ordered never to bring the band back to Exeter.

WEEVILS

Almost the only members of the Sour Grapes to continue their singing careers into the Spring of 1964, Pete "Harmonica Man" Carl, Bob "The Voice" Chessman, and Sandy Greene combined voices and style to bring a new brand of folk music to the hill. Known for their easy going, barefoot look, the Weevils practiced anywhere, from bathrooms to wings. The Weevils became nationally known after their appearance at the Drama Lab entertainment of Prom Weekend. Continuing to entertain throughout the Spring, the Weevils climaxed their PA singing careers with a well-received performance at Graduation's "Cash Paid for Old Rags."

SCIENCE CLUBS

The small but active science clubs of PA satisfied the interests of only a few boys, yet the clubs were valuable extracurricular additions to the academic world of Evans Hall. The SCIENCE EXPERIMENTERS, headed by Steve Calderwood, was the most active as it centered its activities on presenting informative movies and lectures about all fields of science. The entertaining education in the White Room included movies on organic chemistry, oceanography, and aerodynamics. The club maintained a fund available for students wishing to do research who lacked funds, but no grants were made this year.

Bjorne Lange's ASTRONOMY CLUB made the most progress during the year as it obtained a new six inch refracting telescope for use in the new Evans Hall observatory. The devoted Saturday night star gazers also gained a special camera to use with the telescope.

Also looking toward the heavens was Bob Marshall's NATURAL HISTORY CLUB which conducted a year-round bird-banding program. The strange connection between Big Cheese Marshall's 1963 Means Essay and his ascendancy to the presidency of the club has not been explained, but the club did function within sight of Earth as it performed a valuable public service with a robin count to determine insecticide damage. Although there were no scientific breakthroughs and although the Science Journal was not published, 1963-64 was a worthwhile scientific year.

PRESS CLUB

The Press Club opened the Fall Term with a large membership list but with only one or two active workers. President Skipper Lee and Vice-President Hugh West faithfully covered the weekly sports events and managed to get more words in the Boston papers than in the previous five years. Because of lack of aid, however, Lee and West could get out only a few hometown reports and two feature reports. During the Fall, the Club handled the pictures and writing of the Andover end of the A-E Football program and prided itself in the high quality of its work compared to the Exie garble.

In the Winter Term, the assimilation of Sportlite Magazine into the organization provided an array of talented and willing workers, including Chris Harte, Alex Preston, and Rick Platt, who sacrificed portions of their vacations to publish the preview of New England Prep School athletics. The Club became more tightly organized, with the three departments of Game Coverage, Features, and Hometown Reports being set up. For the first time spectators could go to sports events with Press Club programs. During Exeter Weekend and the Wrestling interschols large printed programs with previews and box scores were provided. Crowning achievement of the term, however, was the lengthy and fact-filled feature by Press Club members about the Swimming team published in Boston's Herald. The article featured Captain Hunter John stroking across page two of the sports section.

By the Spring Term the Press Club had established itself as a top-notch organization, as it continued to publish Sportlite for the benefit of newspapers and the student body. The Club also inaugurated the infamous Press Club Film Series, which included such memorable flicks as "The Wild One" and "Strike Three," which were publicized by Skip Lee's unique announcements during Tuesday and Wednesday assemblies.

Harte, Lee (President), West, Platt, Preston.

WPAA

Heralded to be the biggest thing to hit PA in years by station manager Dave Dimlich, WPAA took PA by surprise early in the fall term. The station, although set up temporarily, was lacking none of the staff necessary for a truly great station: "Gregarious Greg" O'Keefe, "Hopalong" Boydston, Eddie Samp, and Paul "The Irishman" Gallagher were but a few of the WPAA Good Guys. After repeaters had been installed in Stearns, Stimson, Paul Revere, Foxcroft and Day, dials became glued to 645 of the AM dial, and O'Keefe's Surf Day, Chuck Berry Day and Four Seasons Day brought WPAA into the limelight of success.

The sports board, working hard to gain top notch coverage, arranged a direct broadcast of the Andover-Deerfield hockey game. Manning the mike was Dewey Fulton, who was later to lead the Torqués in a "live" taped performance on a February afternoon. Also featured was an exclusive WPAA recording of the Apostles before they went on Crusade.

Everything about WPAA spelled the glamour and excitement of WINS and WMEX. The weekend broadcasts, which often featured taped interviews with faculty members, were of such excellent caliber that the faculty, trustees, and alumni soon realized that a large, well-operated radio station would be a good addition to the facilities of PA. Mr. Robert Sarnoff, Chairman of the Board of NBC, PA '35, was so impressed that he donated a ten watt FM station valued at fifteen thousand dollars to be ready for operation in 1965.

RIFLE CLUB

The PA Rifle Club had a very successful year in both membership and marksmanship as it shot its way to an undefeated season. Tabor was the Blue's first victim, who fell seven points short of the Blue's winning score. As the team improved, it overcame St. Paul's 720-686, with the team's average increasing 3½ points. Bart Loomis led the sharpshooters with a 184 tally.

The Blue then shot down the Exies in the seventh consecutive victory for PA riflemen over Exeter. Lower Tom Weil led the team with a 182 in the 887-880 triumph, but Captain Doug Everett and Dave Walker were close behind with 180 points each. The highlight of the year was the Blue's resounding victory at the Interscholastics, where PA's 891 edged out Tabor's 888, Exeter's 876, and St. Paul's 867. Dave Walker was the meet's high scorer with a 191 out of 200, a personal and Interscholastic high.

As a fitting end to the successful year, Doug Everett presented the Donald E. Merriman Trophy to the coach of the 1964 team. It is hoped that the annual presentation of the trophy to a member of the team will preserve sportsmanship and inspire a high caliber of riflery.

Andover Riflemen Win Interschols; Walker Takes Title To Pace Blue

OUTING CLUB

Although no one was able to continue Mr. Reid's enthusiastic programs of 1962-63, the Outing Club had an adventurous and successful year. Mr. Reid returned for the opening meeting where he presented slides of his trip to California. Up to five lobsters per member and perfect weather at Mr. Sanborn's Maine retreat made the fall lobster feed a huge success. Unfortunately, the extreme forest fire danger in the fall limited the number of climbing trips to a minimum. In the meantime a movie, "The Wilderness Alps of Steppin" and slides of the Gaspé Peninsula were shown to appease the frustrated outdoorsmen.

The winter was the club's most active season; several ski trips to Sunapee, John Jay's ski movie "Catch a Falling Star," and three climbing trips up Mt. Layfayette and Mt. Monadnock kept many of the club's members active. Since no faculty drivers could be found to provide transportation for kayak trips, several independent adventures were made to the Millers, Deerfield and Westfield Rivers during the early spring. A final climbing trip and the spring lobster feed completed a very enjoyable year for the outdoorsmen.

SAILING CLUB

The 1963-64 sailing club experienced a year of frustration, for although the club had considerable talent, its racing record was mediocre. The fall was highlighted by a meet at Marblehead with Pingree. Despite Franz Schneider's and Walt Pierson's victories, the team scores were equal, and thus a rematch was planned. A movie on the 1962 America's Cup Races and a few attempts at frostbiting rounded out the activities until Spring.

The sailors had an active Spring Term as they sailed almost every week against such opposition as St. George's, Exeter, Northfield, and Worcester. At the Pingree rematch, the Blue sailors were so afraid of the high seas that everyone remained on shore, and the tie of the fall remained unbroken. The climax of the Spring was the Blue's second place finish in a field of twelve teams at the New England Prep School's Sailing Championship. Walt Pierson, with Franz Schneider as crew, copped the individual scoring honors, but Proctor edged out PA in the total team scoring.

The Interscholastics at the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, L. I. proved to be a great disappointment for the Blue sailors, who were overcome by the best sailors in the East. Disappointed Tim "Commodore" Booth returned to Buffalo, where he met five classmates who crewed for him on the Eight Metre, Norseman. Very wet weather hindered the sailors from racing in Toronto, but Booth did manage to win in one race of the cruising class of the Youngstown Y. C.

ASIA SOCIETY

The Asia Society presented several informative movies in the Fall Term to maintain the Club's tradition of informing PA students about Asian nations, their problems, and policies. Bob Marshall, who had spent the summer in Japan under the American Field Service program, showed his slides and commented on everything from the Japanese view of the Cold War to the Japanese emphasis on the family as the social unit.

During the Winter Term the Society concentrated on making the second series of the Stimson Lectures as successful as the first. Starting in the middle of the fall, President Jon Miller, working with advisor Royce, wrote to prospective speakers and planned a publicity drive for the lectures. Dr. Lea Williams of Brown University began the series, speaking on "The Chinese in Southeast Asia." Dr. Rudolf of Harvard discussed "The Caste System of India" two weeks later, and in the third lecture Dr. McMaster of Boston University spoke on "Japan One Hundred Years Ago." Dr. Benjamin Schwartz of Harvard, an outstanding authority on Communist China, talked about recent developments in that country in the concluding lecture. All four lectures were well attended and groups came from Abbot, Dana Hall and Merrimack College. The Society assumed the role of a social club in the Spring Term when it held a well attended dance.

DEACONS

CHESS CLUB

Under the dynamic leadership of President Herbert Payne, the Andover Chess Club increased the number of both its members and activities. Strengthened by newcomers Perdue and Vose, the club fought its way to an excellent match record of three wins, one draw and one defeat. Off to a good start by defeating Brooks 4-1 and St. Paul's 7-6, the team stumbled momentarily in drawing Brooks 2½-2½, but resumed its winning ways by downing St. Paul's again, 5½-3½. In the finale, Andover almost upset the ingenious Exeter team as Jameson, Phelps and Tanner all won surprising victories. Two games were so close they had to be continued over the air in conjunction with the Radio Club, but Andover eventually lost 5½-3½. Although the club did not win a game on first board all season, Andover's great depth showed itself as the lower boards usually provided the winning margins.

STAGE CREW

As PA audiences realized that shadows could push sets around, appreciation grew for Mr. Leavitt's motley crew of stage hands. The boys in holey sneakers and rolled-up shirt sleeves were almost never seen in Julius Caesar, which had a functional stage design by Howard Cutler. Franz Schneider's illumination crew handled with professional brilliancy the subtle changes of lighting. In the stage crew's triumph, My Fair Lady, loud applause greeted the magnificently designed and constructed set as the curtain parted. The efficient movement of seven sets in sixteen scene changes and the flawless lighting provided an additional professional touch to the excellent musical.

PRE MED SOCIETY

The first Pre-Medical Society meeting of the 1963-64 school year was indicative of the interest shown throughout the year: seventy-five per cent of the forty members present paid their dues and sat down to enjoy a color movie on open-heart surgery. Under the able leadership of President Howard Raines, Vice-President Doug Brown, and Treasurer Lloyd Wells, the Society also showed films on neuro-surgery, quacks, and kidney ailments. By far the most successful presentation of the year was "Very Dangerous," a movie about venereal disease which attracted almost 300 interested students.

Speakers included Dr. Elton Watkins, head of the Lahey Clinic's surgical research department; Dr. Robert O'Brien, who showed colored slides of plastic surgery; and a speaker on naval medicine. To augment this program, field trips were taken to Massachusetts General Hospital, where the attending members witnessed live surgery; and to the Bon Secour Hospital in Methuen. With the training gained in a laboratory course at the Infirmary under Mr. Zuppardi, by Spring pre-medics were taking urinalyses and blood tests.

Brown, Reines (President).

RADIO CLUB

After a year of planning and moving, designing, building, and buying, the Radio Club, headed by an all-upper board, started out its forty-first year as the oldest preparatory school amateur radio station with a surge of activity. Classes on radio and electronic theory and on the Morse code were held once a week to prepare interested students for a "ham" license. Every graduate of this course passed the difficult government test.

The on-the-air activity was equally gratifying. Starting the year with a low power, ninety watt transmitter, the club spread the news across the country that W1SW was back on the air, and contacts were made from Maine to Florida, and west to Colorado. The hams then rebuilt an old amplifier, boosting the power to 225 watts, and began to work Europe. A thrilling voice contact with Ghana, Africa, climaxed a highly successful year of operation.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club, the 1964 Pot Pourri's greatest asset, had a truly great year as it enjoyed the first full year's exposure to the new darkroom facilities. The number of active members quadrupled, while the total membership remained the same as 1962-63, and results were evident everywhere in both quantity and quality. President Didi Pei led the shutterbugs by producing 193 of the record-breaking 1075 pictures in this book. Uppers Harte, Melamed, Brown, and Lowers Adler, Stein, Almquist, Chimento, and Gray worked for the Phillipian, Sportlite, and the Alumni Bulletin, but managed to contribute 158 pictures to the Pottie.

In addition to the excellent objective photography, members were artists as well as slaves. Pei had two photographs that received recognition in the New England elimination of a national Kodak contest. Throughout the year Messrs. Munson and Mandle inspired and taught the student photographers so well that 1963-64 was the best and most completely documented year on film.

Kennedy (President), Hobson (Bishop).

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, a religious discussion group for PA Catholics, maintained an active membership of over thirty boys who met Friday nights in Graham house. 1963-64 was one of the most active years in club history. Outside speakers who were invited to conduct meetings included a missionary from Japan and a priest who was a PA alumnus. Along with the numerous weekly meetings, several breakfasts in the Inn were sponsored for Abbot and Andover Catholic students. When the administration offered students the use of the Sylvia Pratt Kemper Chapel, the Newman Club worked with Mr. Baldwin and the local parish to arrange several Sunday masses on campus. The Newman Club of 1964 will be remembered as the initiator of Catholic masses on the Hill, which will eventually become weekly services to end the long walk downtown on Sundays.

FRENCH CLUB

Mitchell, Watson (President), Collins.

Under the driving and forceful leadership of President Hathaway Watson, Vice-President Jack Mitchell, Secretary Jack Collins, and Treasurer Jimmy Grew, the French Club strove vigorously this year to attain new heights. Although plunged momentarily into the depths at the beginning of the fall by the banishment of Brigit Bardot entertainment, the organization quickly recovered and rose to its full stature by offering throughout the school year an enlightening series of dances and parties. The management fulfilled the needs of those who sought an avenue of cultural expression by presenting a diverse, if not all-embracing set of films supplied almost exclusively by the French Consulate in Boston. Although the appropriateness of the films might have been debated at times, the members and other viewers could not deny that they had been given an exceptional insight into the needs and conditions of prehistoric France. Although the French Club meetings were more culinary than cultural, Hathaway Watson's tenure in office was undoubtedly an exciting one which provided ample fun for all.

RUSSIAN CLUB

The 1964 Russian Club concentrated its efforts on spectaculars instead of presenting many uninteresting movies and conservative speakers because of an inherited debt. The first triumph of the year was the "Fall Ball," or the Russian Prom, the first language club dance in PA history to be completely catered by a private organization. After the unique hot dinner, the Country Day Beavers and the Andover Trotskies enjoyed the music of the Torqués, with the hummers not only on the dance floor but also on the steps and lawn of Peabody House. The well-wined Sour Grapes made their debut, impressing all those present with their sweet folk songs.

The Yale Russian Chorus performed in G.W. on April 19 in one of the most enjoyable and educational Saturday entertainments of the year. The activities of the Russian Club ended late in May as the first meeting was held during which new officers were elected. All those who showed up were given positions, including the Phillipian reporter, who promised to fulfill his duties in 1965 to the best of his ability . . . .

GERMAN CLUB

Craford, Schandorff (President).

The recently resurrected German Club spent the school year rebuilding its former membership and resources. A membership drive was launched through the German Department in the fall, and the results were very promising. The initial meeting in September drew a crowd of fifty, who stayed loyal to the club all year. The autumn movie was Marlene Dietrich's classic "The Blue Angel," which was well received by the student body even though it was vintage 1931. The Winter Term was highlighted by the German Club-Spanish Club tea dance with Concord Academy. It was the most socially and financially successful dance of the year. In the spring, German students and the entire school saw the great psychological war film, "The Devil's General," which was about a plot to assassinate Adloph Hitler. The term ended with the installation of the new officers who replaced outgoing Peter Schandorff, John Craford and Alan Timberlake. A week before finals the new officers played host to the club members with a steak picnic in Mr. Kemper's backyard.

SPANISH CLUB

In the eyes of some observers the Spanish Club of 1963-64 was an utter failure, but the club's officers, especially President King Scherer, thought differently, for not only did the Spanish Club surpass the other language clubs in culture by pioneering a foreign language play at PA, but it outsocialized the other social clubs. The club presented its members and unobtrusive others with seven dances during the year in defying the old adage that quality is better than quantity. Those who fear that the club was a democratic disorganization will be relieved to learn that the club was an organized dictatorship. Officers Scherer, Gonzalez, and Mizne ran the club with a strict iron rule that was almost as hard as the stares of the chaperones. The long list of activities which the club sponsored should be included here for those interested, but that is too much to ask of an organization that managed to lose all records of who its members were. However, 1964 was a successful year; even the faculty noticed the club's activity, and planned to take more interest in 1965 as they investigate the club's near-monopoly of tea dances.

Mizne, Scherer (President).

ATHLETICS

It was my last Sunday afternoon, and I decided to walk across campus from Stearns to Day. I was in a hurry, but the temptation to peek into Clay "The Invisible Man" Johnson's room was too great. Walking in I found the usual hearts game in progress. The game had stopped temporarily, Glen Greenberg and John Kidde being engaged in a heated argument. I asked what the problem was, and Berger deigned to answer. He explained he thought the Exeter football game had been the best athletic contest of the year. Kidde vowed Exeter lacrosse was better.

"Recall that game," said Glen, his eyes peering upward as if longing to return to that moment. "9-8, theirs, and five seconds left. Our field goal attempt is blocked. A prep school team barely loses to a squad of post grads. I mean that was a tenser."

"Berger, baby," interrupted (Stanford) John. "Andover meets Exeter for the New England prep lacrosse championship. The score is tied with FOURTEEN seconds left. An Exie hits goalie Reynolds in the crease and the ball goes in the net. The ref makes a bad call, and we lose."

At this point Ron Mitchell, who was sitting off in the corner, discarded his 'Boy. "Both you guys are crazy. Any real athlete could tell you that the Krump Machine vs. B-Club Saxons was the game. I remember how Bruce Wiley flattened that lower. Wiley was tough, that's all. And so was our league."

"But is that good athletics?" I questioned. May as well talk about club lax's Grim Reapers, the immortal defense. And Rob Auld and Dave Dimlich did some pretty fancy fouling under the A-Club B'Ball boards."

"Get serious." It was the Berger. If you're really going to recount the exciting contests, next to Exeter football, it'd have to be swimming vs. Williston."

"Squash against Deerfield," yelled José Gonzalez from his room in the South side of Bartlet.

"Wrestling vs. Mount Hermon," claimed Bull Chase, who had picked up the 'Boy.

"Basketball vs. Exeter," yelled Kidde, forgetting about lax. "Yeah, what about that? 98-97 and Wurster breaks Andover's all-time scoring record with 45 points."

"You got a point there," capitulated Big Glen. "But in that football game--"

"Oh, shut up about that game," blasted Chase. "Let's talk about the weight room. There was an accomplishment. Over two thousand pounds, ram rack, iso ba—"

"Just cause you slept there."

"So what if I slept there, it's probably the best training set up in New England. Coach Sorota says scouts from all over the Ivies are looking at it.

"I still think that lax game—"

"I'll bet we have over three thousand pounds."

"Oh, I'll bet we have over three hundred thou."

"Gonzalez sauntered over. "You know, everyone had a good year. We had some hot athletes, but much credit goes to Bush and his gang. A heck of a lot of spirit from them."

"I remember those Beatle skits . . ."

"I'll remember that football game."

"SHUT UP BERGER."

"Hey, you forgot cross country. What a team they had," I recalled.

"And crew winning the interschols."

"And Gonzalez winning the interschols, José whispered.

ATHLETIC ADVISORY BOARD

"And A-Club Romans scoring eight runs in the bottom of the fourth and final inning to defeat the Greeks. Remember that?" Talking through the screen, Gross Art Keppleman had joined the conversation from outside.

"Who the heck remembers what the Romans did?"

(Shot down, Art)

"Hey, who do you think was the best athlete?" asked Greenberg, shifting the conversation.

"Could be L. E. Sawyer. All prep football, b'ball, and probably the best player in baseball."

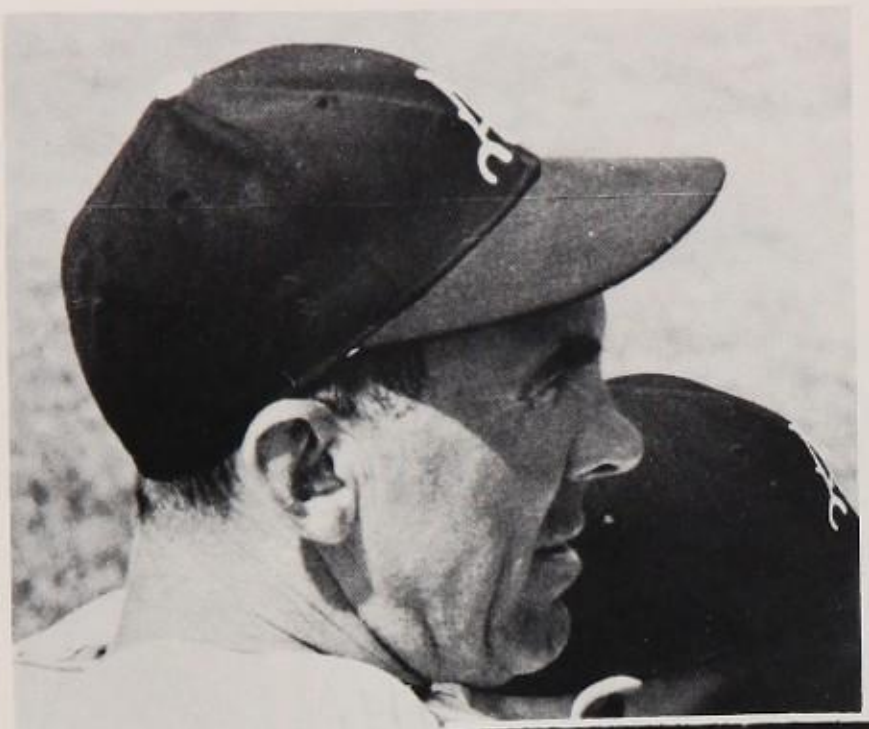
"Or Williams—football, b'ball captain and lax."

"Howe ran three great seasons of track."

"Marshall scored twenty against the A-Club Gauls."

'WHO GIVES A DAMN ABOUT A-LEAGUE?"

Adrian "A" Almquist had a handful of cards. He had been trying to resume the game all along. Now with the room filled with screaming voices he gave up. "The funniest thing I ever say was the Andover-Dartmouth baseball game. The Dartmouth coach was thrown out of the game. Then Coach Harrison, accusing umpire Leete of lacking 'guts' on a particular decision, almost got booted. Boy, was that funny." "A" rolled with laughter.



"I don't think it was so funny," said Mitchell.

"Or the time . . ."

And at that time I had to leave. Walking away outside I could still hear the Berger.

"You know, that football game—"

"SHUT UP, BERGER, WILL YOU!!"

Finally reaching Day, I thought for a minute. You know, it had been quite the athletic year.

Back: Thompson (Manager), Griffin, Burke, Alberstadt, Ross, Eakland, Ludden, Fabiani, Bond, Scanlan (Manager), Sorota (Coach), Leete (Coach). Middle: Brenner, Chestnut, Gang, Rafferty, Wilbur, Haley, Evans, Vaughan, Warren, Gibson, Kitson, Fraker, Mills, Swanson, Dixon, Boydston, Hagan, Clift, Thomas, Deane, McLean, James, Morgan. Front: Nevius, Bryant, Hay, Williams, Fleming, Greenberg, Blankenship, Reynolds, Sawyer, Moore, Waterman, Barnes, Roden, Bonda, Kidde, Brown, Dieter.

The football team of 1963 was light, fast, but unlucky. Led by Co-Captains Dick Reynolds at left half and L. E. Sawyer at left end, it was a hard-working, dedicated group whose speed and agility made up for its lightness. Only a few unfortunate breaks against strong opponents put a losing record on the books.

In the season's opener an aggressive Blue defense held the heavily favored Northeastern Frosh to a 0-0 tie. The freshmen line almost scored twice, but the PA line held, with Reynolds and end Dick Fleming making key defensive plays. A week later Andover faced the Tufts Freshmen squad, reputed to be the best in twenty-five years and led by PA's 1962 captain, Frank Hekemian. Tufts scored, then Brad Moore for Andover. From then on it was PA's game as Barnes and Greenberg were spectacular on defense: John Kidde kicked the ball into the coffin corner; Tufts fumbled; and Moore plunged over again. After half time, Andover tallied twice more to finish on the long end of a 28-8 score.

On October 12 the Andover football jinx with Lawrenceville continued as Andover lost an extremely close game, 8-0. Statistically the two teams were equal but the Larries were luckier. In the middle of the third quarter, despite the Blue's determined goal line stand, Lawrenceville went over to pull ahead. PA next encountered a tough Hermie eleven. Over 150 Andover yards lost on penalties were partly responsible for the 6-6 tie that resulted, as Sawyer, Evans and Blankenship kept a strong Hermie offense to one tally. Brad Moore thrilled the crowd with a 71-yard punt return that was the only Blue score.

A very strong Deerfield team visited on October 26 to eke out a 13-12 victory and give Andover its second loss of the season. Williams, Chestnut, and Hay combined finesse, speed and power to set up Reynolds' two scores. Both conversions failed and Deerfield's third quarter TD was fatal. After a desperate but scoreless last period the score ended at 13-12. On a wet, cold November 2nd Andover was barely defeated 6-0 by a heavy Williams Frosh who scored with less than a minute to go in the last quarter. Again the PA defense did a fine job, but poor playing conditions hindered the offense.

Blue Defense Holds Frosh To 0-0 Tie

September 28, 1963

With the whole school behind them at Exeter, the Blue played a superb and determined game only to fall 9-8 to the Red. Underdog Andover outplayed the Exies throughout the game and kept fighting until the final gun. Somehow, it didn't feel like a defeat. The Red tallied first in the second quarter on a safety when a high center to the Andover punter landed outside the PA end zone. Late in the third quarter Moore, Hay, and Williams, swept, plunged and passed 85 yards to Andover's TD. Dick Reynolds demonstrated the team's determination as he went over for the conversion pushing two defensemen before him.

Immediately after the Blue tally, Exeter began its 60-yard drive to the winning score. The conversion was kicked with only ten minutes left, and Andover's best efforts, including a last minute field goal attempt, failed to close the gap as the game ended 9-8. It is unfortunate that only the wins and losses of the year are recorded, and not the spirit that this team instilled in the school, whether it won or lost.

With thirteen returning players making the pre-season prospects for the 1963 soccer team especially bright, the booters lived up to all expectations with a 7-3-1 record against a solid array of strong opponents. The forward line, paced by the accurate shooting and pinpoint heading of Captain Tory Peterson, was the mainstay of the team.

The season started off at a neck-breaking pace, as the Dekemen won six and tied one of the opening seven games. The team's potential strength was not demonstrated in the Governor Dummer game; but despite the fact that the defense had trouble working together, the Blue was able to squeak by on scores by Bob Chessman and Dan Badger. The following Saturday the team struggled to a 1-1 tie with the Yale Freshmen. Peter Gallaudet played an outstanding game in the goal and helped to preserve the effect of John Bemis's tally. The Blue defense of fullbacks Terry Trimble and Steve Calderwood played excellently, continually breaking up Eli scoring drives.

After a relatively easy 4-1 win over the MIT Freshmen, the team travelled North to Dartmouth. The stormy weather did not bother the Blue, as Peterson scored twice and Chessman once to amass a 3-0 lead that was preserved by the tightening defense. Al Timberlake, Mickey Jako, and John Hemingway, Andover's halfback line, played an aggressive defensive game and were an important factor in the win.

Medford High School fell next, 4-2, as the Blue readied itself for the coming contest with undefeated Mt. Hermon. In that game the Blue found itself behind 1-0 at the half, unable to penetrate the tight Hermon defense, but the team came back fighting to win 3-2. The situation was much the same against St. Paul's, where Andover returned from a first-half deficit and, on scores by Badger, Peterson, and Bemis, went on to win 4-1.

Hopes of an undefeated season were crushed by Deerfield. The Green took advantage of Andover's defense, which was playing without ailing Terry Trimble, and of a lack of coordination in the line. Although Henry Snavely played magnificently in the nets, the final score at the end of a disappointing afternoon was 3-1. Rough going continued as the team lost hard fought contests to the Harvard and Brown Freshmen. Both the weather and the outcome at Harvard were miserable as the Blue fell 2-1. Against Brown, the forwards had trouble working as a unit and could not muster a strong attack. The team came out on the short end of a 2-0 score.

Disregarding the last three losses, the Blue pulled together and prepared for Exeter. First period scores by Peterson and Marshall got the team off to an explosive start. The forward line was once again unstoppable as Peterson and Chessman broke through repeatedly. In the third period Chessman scored on a penalty kick; with the score 4-0, the Blue settled back and goalie Snavely turned in his usual showing to preserve the 4-0 rout — the perfect end to an excellent season.

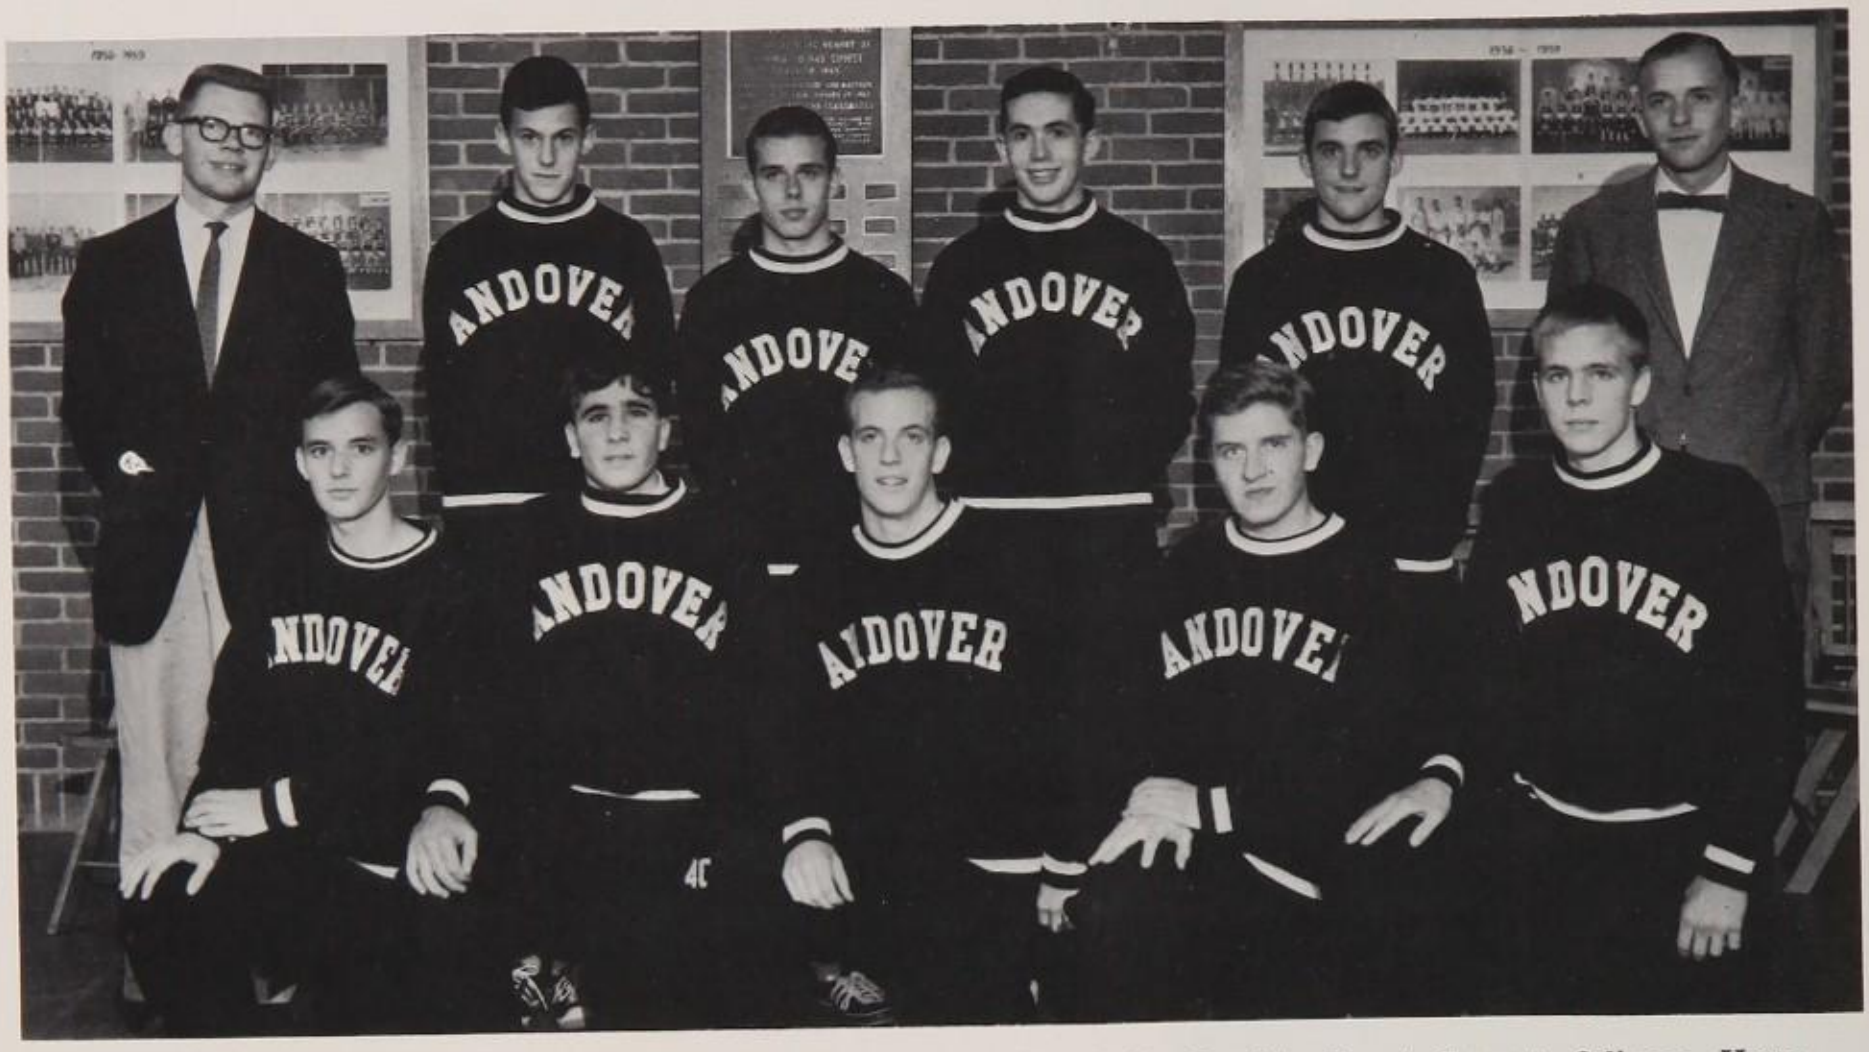
CROSS COUNTRY



Back: Wright (Manager), Redman, Cory, Kellet, Dennehy, Kimball (Coach). Front: Everett, Seligson, Howe (Captain), Panter, Smith.

In the Fall of 1963 the best Andover cross country team ever ran to a perfect dual meet record of 6-0 for the first time in history. The harriers shut their opponents twice behind the leadership and fleet feet of Captain Dick Howe who broke and rebroke the 2.5 mile PA course record three times.

After a pre-season week of gruelling workouts, the eightsome smashed Huntington in what Coach Kimball called "the most remarkable race I've seen." Runners cut as much as forty seconds from their previous season's best times, and upper Pete Dennehy finished strongly right behind Howe, who shattered the course record in 13:08, and Pete Smith, who tied the record with a 13:27 clocking. Promising prep Bob Stempson was out for the season with a rare complication of shin splints

Avenging the 1962 loss to Northeastern, Howe took another ten seconds off the record, followed by six other PA runners within the first ten places. The Blue then shut out UNH on its home course, taking the first five places: Howe, Smith, Dennehy, Kellet, Everett. In top shape, the team then faced its toughest opponent, the Harvard Frosh, edging them out 24-34. All through the Sanctuary Howe fought 4:20 miler Jim Smith, taking him in the last hundred yards with a desperate sprint and a new school record of 12:56. Other runners chopped valuable seconds from previous times, but Bud Kellett pulled the back muscle that hampered him throughout the rest of the season.

The following week St. Paul's fell victim to the Blue's 15-50 perfect score, seven PA runners finishing ahead of the first Paulie. Tom Seligson pulled his time down further to continue his steady improvement that made him one of the team's assets. The year's final dual meet, against Deerfield, was closely contested all the way to the finish. Smith and Dennehy won personal duels, passing Green opponents in the last hundred yard stretch to give Andover the margin for victory.

The season's disappointment was the 12 team Interscholastics at Mt. Hermon where Andover placed fifth. Picked to win by most coaches, and feeling the support of the whole school, the runners were too keyed up to put out their best, and a series of mishaps moved all the runners back further than they should have been in the finish.

WINTER

BASKETBALL

Back: DiClemente (Coach), Bush, Downing, Johnson, Greenberg, Congdon, Kenna, Wood, Kroll (Manager).
Front: Vermeil, Sawyer, Wurster, Williams, Brenner, Almquist, Timberlake.

One should not rely on the 8-6 record of the 1964 basketball squad to determine the team's success, for two resounding triumphs over Exeter were enough in themselves to make the season a great one. The Blue team was built around and below Bob "Root" Wurster, who provided the height which had been lacking in previous teams. Bob jumped center and usually played center on defense where he could best clog the opposition's attack. On offense the Root switched to the corner where he could use his uncanny jump shot more easily than in the pivot. Forward Jim Brenner and guards L. E. Sawyer and Captain Win Williams were the other regular starters. The other forward position was the possession of Al Timberlake, Glen Greenberg, Adrian Almquist and Clay Johnson.

The season opened against the Northeastern Freshmen who simply outclassed the Blue as the Frosh won by 26 points. The dribblers next faced the New Hampshire Frosh who also proved too good, but Andover would not surrender until the second overtime period in the 90-82 battle. PA lost another close one as the Bowdoin Frosh stormed back from a second period deficit to nip the Blues 75-73.

With an 0-3 record and the promise of another dismal season on the hardwood, the PA hoopsters caught fire as they bombed Tabor 104-69 in one of the season's three eclipses of the century mark. Then Andover slipped spectacularly by Exeter 80-78 in one of the year's athletic highpoints. The four regulars, especially Wurster who outdueled the Red's 6'7" giant, all played superbly, but the difference was in Mike Wood's clutch ball-hawking.

Basketball Dumps Red; First Win in 5 Years

January 23, 1964

The Blue next polished off the weak Suffolk Freshmen to set the stage for the game with Deerfield. The Green did not prove to be as good as forecasted, and Andover won, 70-65. The Lowell Tech JV's fell 107-62, and Mt. Hermon followed suit when they were trumped 84-75. After the Hermie game the b-ballers had a two week layoff as a result of the long weekend and a snowed out game. Thus when Deerfield came to the Hill for the return encounter, the home team did not get warmed up until it was too late, and succumbed 82-75.

In one of the sloppiest games of the year, Andover blew a first half lead and bowed to the Harvard Frosh. Suffering from William's foot injury and Sawyer's absence, PA dropped a tilt with the Amherst Freshmen and also fell to powerful Worcester Academy.

In the return match with the Exies, the Red threatened to make it a runaway in the first few minutes, but PA rallied, and the game was an even match until 35 seconds remained with Exeter ahead 97-94. Sawyer hit on a jumper, then 15 seconds later stole the ball and scored on a lay up. The Red's last second efforts against PA and pandemonium were in vain as they toppled 98-97. Defensive star Greenberg, who contained Gribble excellently; offensive star Wurster, who established a new school scoring record of 45 points; and all-around star Sawyer were the heroes of the united team effort which ended a very exciting season.

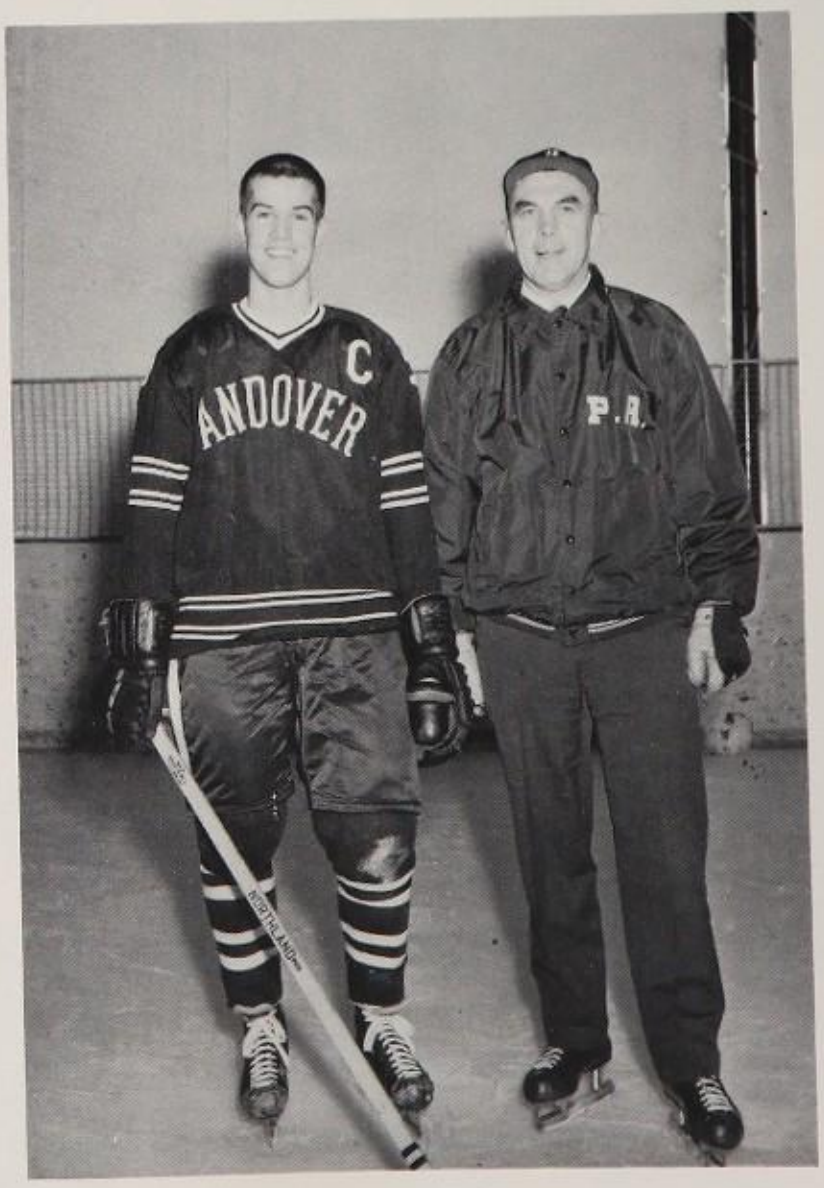
"Considering the lack of size and experience," commented Coach Harrison, "we had a good year." Playing a rugged schedule that included eleven college teams, Andover hockey compiled a 13-7 record, including the Lawrenceville Tournament victory.

Varsity hockey for '64 was built on depth and hustle. The first line of Captain Doug Brown, Canadian Tony Bryant, and Senior prep Jack Garrity led the attack, which was bolstered by Seniors Doug Franchot and John Bemis, and Upper Skip Comstock on the potent second line. Upper Dan Warren, and Lowers Chris Gurry, Skip Freeman, and Charlie "Motor-Mouth" Samson formed a strong defense nucleus in front of constantly improving goalie Bill Semple.

After felling Melrose in the season's opener, the Blue was stopped cold by a Canadian-studded B.U. Freshman team. However, the hustle and determination PA showed against the hard-hitting Terriers was a foreshadowing of the playing of the team that was to skate away with the Lawrenceville hockey trophy.

Slated as underdogs and facing two of New England's finest prep school hockey teams, Andover swept past Nichols, Deerfield, and Belmont Hill to capture the trophy symbolic of



New England prep school hockey supremacy. Garrity on the attack and Warren, Gurry, and Freeman on the defense gave Semple tremendous support, allowing only two goals in the tournament.

Back from vacation, Brownie's force took two easy ones from Milton and Bowdoin. The five-game winning streak was ended at Belmont Hill, where All-American Ken Parrot managed to score a hat trick to lead the Hillies to a 4-2 victory. Again at Deerfield the team lost 5-3 to the sextet it had beaten at Lawrenceville, despite the hustle and goal-scoring of Franchot, Bemis, and Comstock on the second line.

With the lineup shuffled and Dan Warren up from defense to bolster the attack, the Bananamen took the next three over Brown, Dartmouth, and UNH Frosh; but BC proved too strong for the Men as they put 9 out of 55 shots past goalie Bill Semple.

Weakened for the rest of the season by the loss of Captain Doug Brown and Lower Ford Fraker, who were sidelined with injuries, Andover edged the Northeastern Freshmen and the Harvard JV's, with Tony Bryant scoring the winning tally in a sudden death overtime against the Cantabs. It was in these two games that Goalie Semple reached his peak, playing spectacular hockey by stopping a Northeastern breakaway in the last ten seconds of the game, and holding Harvard to only one goal.

Andover dropped the next two games to the Harvard Frosh and to the undefeated Yale Freshmen team, against whom Andover played superbly, led by Tony Bryant, Jack Garrity, and Charlie Samson. Finally, Exeter showed up with one of the best teams in its history. Despite the tenacious defense of Gurry and Warren, and the repeated offensive thrusts of Brown, Bemis, and Franchot, Andover could not find the range, and with three minutes left in the third period, Exeter scored and clinched the victory, 2-1.

Opening the season with well-founded optimism, the best PA wrestling team in years finished with a creditable 5-3 record. The power-packed upper weight classes, with captain Eric Chase, Chip Nevius, and Dick Barnum winning consistently, proved to be the backbone of the squad.

The team reeled off five consecutive victories before falling to three outstanding opponents. Governor Dummer, undefeated since 1960, was unseated in the opener, 19-18. The Blue was down 8-16 going into Chip Nevius' 157 pound match, and his victory assured at least a tie. Bob Wilbur's tie at heavyweight won for PA in the thrilling upset. As the musclemen gathered momentum, Worcester Academy was crushed 26-9 as Dick Timbie registered his second victory. Wins from Mark Moor, Scott Rogge, Derek Huntington, Dick Leary, John Deane, Chase, and Barnum completed the rout.

Smashing Milton 26-11, the team extended its undefeated run to three. Dick Timbie tallied the only PA pin, but Chuck Rounds scored a decisive win while Milton could take only three of eleven matches. The squad reached a scoring high with a 33-8 drubbing of Biddeford, Maine High. Rounds, Rogge, and Chase contributed pins, and all but two bouts were Blue victories.

Against LaSalle Academy, a huge crowd in the new gym saw Andover wipe out a fourteen point deficit to win 19-18. Chip Nevius's one-sided win, followed by pins from Chase and Barnum put PA ahead by four points. Heavy-weight "Tarzan" Thomas lost his match, but preserved the victory by eluding a pin.

The undefeated string was ended at five the following week by a powerful, young Mt. Hermon squad, 23-12. Despite Chuck Rounds' opening win at 110 pounds, only Terry Meyer, Nevius and Chase could score. A strong Sanford, Maine High team then downed the Blue 22-14, as Eric Chase suffered his only dual meet loss of the year.

The Interscholastics were held on the Hill, but were completely dominated by Exeter. The Red team, one of the strongest to appear since the interschols were instituted, took an unprecedented six of eleven individual titles, and ran away with the team title. Andover finished fourth behind Exeter, Mt. Hermon, and Governor Dummer. First-seeded Eric Chase at 167 pounds and Chip Nevius at 157 were both upset in the finals and had to settle for second places. Dick Barnum at 177 and 115 pounder Moore won their consolation matches to take thirds. Rounds and 127-pounder Meyer took fourth places in their weight classes.

Against Exeter's powerhouse the matmen could tally only two victories and a tie. With the team down 28-0 going into the 167-pound match, Captain Chase ended his Andover wrestling career with a pin. Barnum repeated his interschol performance by soundly decisioning his man, and heavyweight Thomas's tie left the score at 30-10.

The 1964 Andover squash team, PA's best, previewed the successful season to come by defeating the Harvard Freshmen 5-2 before Christmas vacation. Top man José Gonzalez dropped a heartbreaker, but Captain Court Dixon and Dan Badger easily disposed of their opponents. These three and the tremendous depth provided by Kevin Rafferty, Bing Miller, Chris Mayer, Michelle Scheinmann, Nat Semple and Jeff Garten made up the winning combination which went on to capture twelve out of thirteen matches.

After Christmas vacation, under the excellent tutelage of new Coach George Edmonds, the team posted two shutouts against MIT and Choate. Dixon, now playing number one, displayed impeccable style in downing both his opponents. St. Paul's fell to the Blue as Dixon, Badger, Miller, and Rafferty had no trouble with their adversaries.

The year's disappointment came against Deerfield, which boasted the best two prep school squash players in New England. Dixon, again playing number one, could not match the shots of National junior champion Larry Heath, but Badger won at number three with his accurate, hard serve and fluid moves. Rafferty reversed the David and Goliath story by overpowering his midget foe, and Scheinmann's touch game was also a winner. Miller and Mayer, confused by the low-ceilinged courts dropped their games by narrow margins.

With the score standing at three-all, and Gonzalez winning 8-3 in the fifth game, it seemed that the squash team was headed for an undefeated season. Gonzalez' shots failed, however, and Rick Sterne won the match for Deerfield, 15-12.

The racquetmen bounced back, and with a few encouraging words from Captain Court, beat Exeter 3-2 with Gonzalez, Dixon, and Badger winning their matches easily. Working up to the second Exeter match, Brooks, Yale, St. Paul's, Middlesex, and Dartmouth were polished off, all except Yale by shutouts.

On February 22nd, the Courtmen went to St. Paul's for the Interscholastics with a chance to avenge the earlier loss to Deerfield. The score was close all the way, but Deerfield finished on top 23-21. José Gonzalez scored a great individual triumph by winning the tournament without losing a single game.

Facing Harvard again, the Blue squeaked out a 4-3 win. Bing Miller was the day's hero: with the score three-all in matches, two-all in games and fifteen-all in points, Miller won the deciding point to give Andover the victory.

A 5-0 victory over Exeter capped a near perfect season for the Blue. The climax of the Exie match was Badger's fifth game triumph which gave the team its seventh shutout of the year. Also with this win, Badger became the first undefeated player in the annals of PA squash.

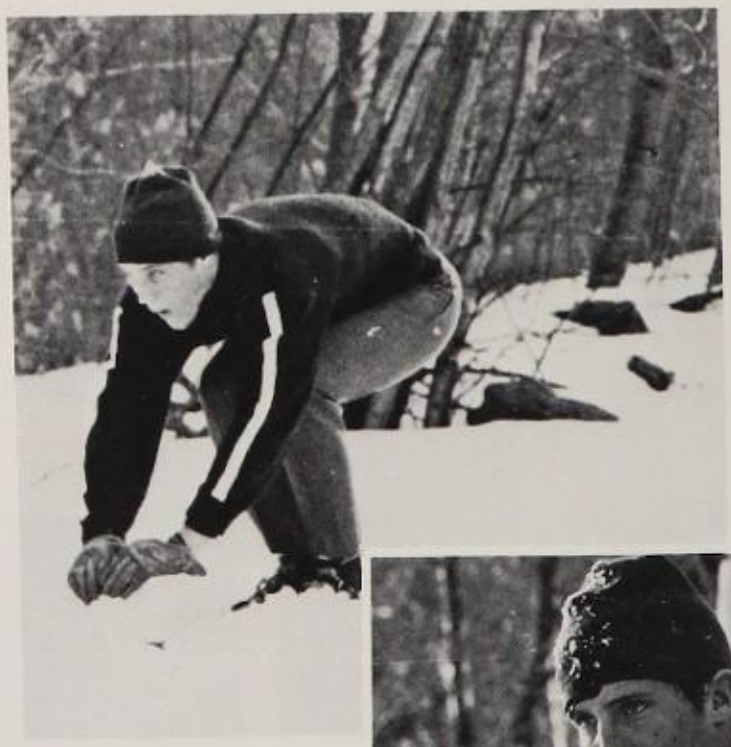
SKIING

Pokress, Moore, Everett, Trafton, Barnes (Captain), McMullen, Mitchell, Hogen, Clift (Manager), Sawyer.



Captain Bear Barnes, in what he termed "a building year," led his team to fluctuating success. Off to a very poor start, the determined skiers finished the year with a mediocre record of two losses, a second in a tri-meet, and a sixth at the K.U.A. Carnival. However, this record does not give an accurate picture of a team which showed promise of success in the years to come.

Whenever there was any snow, two Seniors, two Uppers, and a horde of Lowers and Juniors went out to learn to ski. Captain Bear dominated all four events, but was severely challenged by Junior Dick Trafton in the Alpine events, by Doug Everett in cross-country, and by Andre McMullen in the jumping.

The season began with losses to Proctor and St. Paul's, and a poor showing at Kimball Union. The Alpine team then drilled hard on technique, speed, and control over the rocks, grass, and sheer ice of Boston Hill. Because of poor conditions there, the team headed north to prac-shire. The hard work and fresh snow paid off; February 21 proved to be a day of glory when a split-up team beat Proctor and St. Paul's in return meets. In preparation for the Interscholastics, the jumpers practiced on the K.U.A. jump the day of the Dublin meet, and as a result the tired skiers did not perform well at Dublin.

Since there were only two returning jumpers this year, Coach George Best's job became a challenge to create jumpers out of the apprehensive skiers. He introduced about ten boys to this aspect of skiing, and produced several who show great promise. Andre McMullen and Barnes led the jumpers down the rickety old trestle to the swamp below whenever snow collected on the exposed hillside.

The enthusiasm and co-operation of the skiers contrasted with their won-lost record. Not often have ten boys gone to the jump to shovel snow, or fifteen showed up for cross-country time trials, or twenty appeared on rainy days to see if they could ski; these were the rule, rather than the exception in 1964.

With the season's record of eight wins and two losses, ten school and five pool records, and a close second place finish in the Interscholastics, the 1964 swimming team must be rated as the best in Andover's history. Continually outstanding performances by captain Hunter John, Tom Carothers, Jack Sartore, John Phillips, and Jon Noll combined with watery depth in bringing the Andover victories.

The Blue began the season by downing Portland High 84-11 while breaking seven records. Noll's 59.2 backstroke and Bob Kelley's 1:09.6 breastroke were outstanding; both marks lasted a week or so. Worcester drowned next, 70-25, as John and Carothers set records in the butterfly and 50 free with 56.6 and 23.3 respectively.

Facing their first college competition, the mermen soundly defeated Dartmouth 66-29; Sartore's 51.5 100 free and Kelley's 1:09.2 breastroke both bettering school marks. The Blue went on to beat MIT and Mt. Hermon by identical scores of 78-17. Noll bettered his backstroke record with a 58.9, Carothers set 50 and 100 marks with 23.2 and 51.3, and the freestyle relay of Bill Bonnett, John Phillips, Sartore, and Carothers set a school and pool mark of 1:31.5.

After crushing LaSalle by a perfect score, the Hunters downed prep rival Deerfield 62-33, Phillips' 2:13.7 medley, John's 56.1, and Noll's 58.6 all setting new records. A week later the team suffered the first of its two losses, a 48-47 thriller with Williston. As a crowd of 600 screamed, Williston's Edward's tied two national prep marks and Sartore set a school and pool record in the 50 free with a 22.7. John, Phillips, and Noll also looked good, but wins in the 100, 200, and 400 yard freestyle clinched the narrow victory for Williston.

After losing to Harvard, despite Hunter John's pool and school record time of 55.4 in the butterfly, Andover won a long awaited victory over Exeter, 56-39. Outstanding for the Blue were Sartore's Andover-Exeter records in the 50 and 100 and Noll's backstroke record of 58.2.

The mermen capped a near perfect season with fine individual and team efforts in the Interscholastics at Deerfield. Carothers took third in the 200 free; Sartore tied for first in the 50 and sliced two seconds off his old time with a 49.5 second place in the 100; Phillips took third in both the 200 individual medley and 400 free; John took second in the butterfly; Noll and 1965 Captain Mahoney won the backstroke and dive, respectively; and Kelley and Dan Eubank placed second and third in the breastroke. But the final relay, which Williston took by inches gave them the victory over Andover, 84½-81.

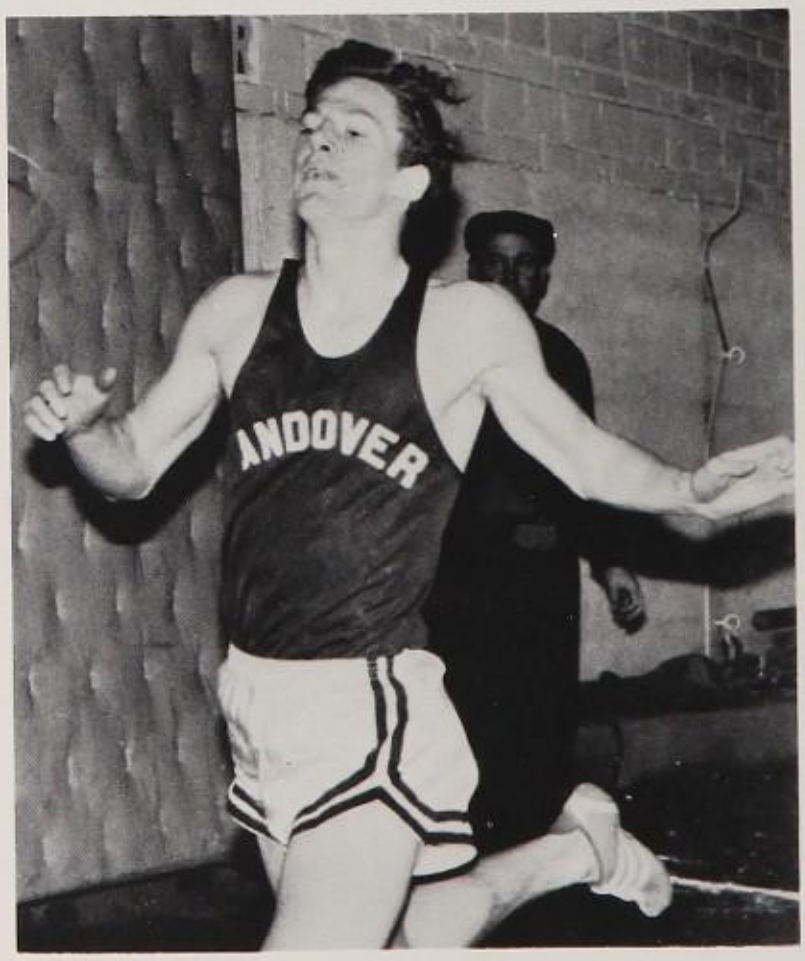
With a foundation of stars and superstars concentrated in the distance events, the 1964 Winter Track Team developed into an above average squad, compiling a 4-4 record, including a surprising Blue victory over Exeter at the BAA relays. The spikemen began the season with an impressive conquest of the New Hampshire Freshmen, 68-38, as the Sorotamen copped eight of eleven events despite the absence of Captain Jeff Huvelle. Cross Country star Dick Howe led the Blue assault, aided by Les Jones' 12'6" pole vault and Bob Stempson's 2:24.3 1000.

The following weekend the team suffered a heartbreaking loss in a tri-meet with Boston English and Boston Tech, 40-38-18. Although the Blue gained four firsts to English's three, the latter's depth and an unfortunate tripping in the relay were the deciding factors. The Bluemen rebounded with a smashing triumph over the Dartmouth Frosh by a 64-31 score. Outstanding was Huvelle's record-tying 1:14.9 in defeating an old nemesis, Leigh Hall in the 600. Bob Stempson's 2:18.9 in the 1000 also came close to a school record. Once again Jones was over twelve feet, while Brad Moore and John Kidde took one-two in the broad jump.



The highlight of the season was Andover's upset smashing of the Exeter mile relay team in a record time of 3:31.7 in the Boston Garden on February 1st. Jeff Huvelle's sizzling 50.1 anchor leg preserved the lead established by Chestnut, Stempson and Howe, as the Blue won by two yards.

Despite record efforts by Huvelle and Howe, PA fell to the powerful Harvard Frosh, 59-36. Howe's 4:27.9 mile and Huvelle's 1:15.4 600 established cage records, while Jones barely missed another in the vault. In defeating the Northeastern Frosh 55-40, the distancemen led the field despite a switch in events between Howe and Stempson. Gene Mazel kept his record unblemished in the hammer, while the sprinters shone as they won both the relay and the top two places in the dash, led by Jim Fabiani and Don Grinberg. Moore's 21'5" leap and Jones'

Hurt by Howe's absence, the team succumbed to a strong Brown Frosh, 66-29. Huvelle, Mazel, Edwards in the high jump, and Captain-elect Colby Snyder in the pole vault were the only Blue victors, while Stempson and Panter gained seconds in the mile and 1000, respectively.

In the final meet against Exeter, the team improved considerably over its 1963 performance, but could not match the Exeter depth nor the record performances of Grad, Hollan, and Lord. Without Howe the distancemen managed to take all three events, as Stempson thwarted a late rush by Willeman to win at the tape by a hair in the mile. Even in defeat the team maintained the fighting spirit which had prevailed throughout the season under fine coaching and excellent leadership of a great captain.

The big question about the 1964 lacrosse team was not whether it had ability but whether it had the spirit and determination necessary to produce a really great team. With twelve returning lettermen, two excellent coaches, and a flock of promising underclassmen, there was little question that the team had the potential to go undefeated if it could maintain the spirit and enthusiasm which had marked the 1963 squad. By the end of the season, however, it was evident that spirit was everywhere, and in plentiful quantities.

The spring's opener was against the Cornell Freshmen, a change from the usually insignficant beginning competition. Although starting slowly, the Blue finished the game with a display of evenly balanced power and tremendous depth as they downed the Frosh 11-4.

The team issued a warning to Deerfield, defending New England champions, by overwhelming its next three opponents: Governor Dummer fell 6-0, Tabor succumbed 16-1, and MIT was crushed 19-2. By the end of this splurge attackmen Dan Warren and Doug Franchot were the top two scorers in the New England prep school circuit, and Blue lax was established as the club to beat.

The Deerfield game was surprisingly easy as the PA team, with two starters on the bench, trounced the Green 9-3. Dan Warren continued his high scoring, and John Kidde, filling in for Dick Reynolds, was fabulous in the nets.

Three more victories came in quick succession as the Blue took Holy Cross 18-1, Boston Lacrosse Club 7-4, and Tufts 20-0. The first smarting loss was to the Brown Freshmen on the first day of Prom Weekend. A last minute goal with 19 seconds remaining gave the Frosh a 4-3 victory. However, with characteristic spirit the stickmen bounced back to pile up 23 goals in beating the Harvard Frosh 6-4 and Mount Hermon 17-1.

St. Paul's came to the Hill with a perfect 9-0 record and high hopes for the New England title. Win Williams scored twice, the Blue defense was impenetrable, and the Paulies went home with a 9-1 record. Warming up for the Exeter climax, the Blue trounced Dartmouth 13-0 at Hanover.

The game of the season — and of the year, came against Exeter on the last Saturday of school. The Blue offense tallied early to give PA a 5-3 lead at the half, but the Exies came back to tie the score at 5-5, and then went ahead, 8-6. Jon Hay, Dick Reynolds and the other defensemen played spectacularly in the last quarter and enabled the PA attack to keep control of the ball. With scarcely a minute left, Scotty Weiss scored to put PA one goal behind, and then clutch-performer Franchot scored to tie the game at eight-all. All was in vain as the referees ruled a clearly illegal, last second Exie goal as legal, giving the game and title to Exeter. Even with the sad ending, the 1964 lacrosse team has every right to be proud of its 12-2 record.

The 1964 Andover baseball season was called by enthusiastic sports columnists a "building year." Actually, the team was probably the worst squad that Coach Harrison has ever coached, and it certainly did not live up to previous Andover powerhouses. Although winning only three games, the team was spirited, and a large number of underclassmen contributed promising performances.

The season opened with a closely contested loss to the Northeastern Frosh, 3-0. Tom Bottonari mixed his pitches well for ten strikeouts in his six inning stint, but the Blue could not marshall key hits when men were on base. The batsmen next carried their lumber down to Providence, only to get bombed by a strong Brown Freshmen team, 12-0. Once again the Blue got men on base, but could not get them home. Next stop on the Freshmen circuit was New Haven. Although PA lost, the team scored a personal victory by scoring its first two runs of the season and sharing a locker room with All-American Roger Staubach.

The following Wednesday in a warm-up for the first meeting with Exeter, the Blue whipped the MIT Freshmen 11-3. The Exeter game opened hopefully, the Blue looking sharp in the field and Bottonari dazzling Redmen with a whipping curve. However, as the game rolled on through dinner, eight Andover errors enabled Exeter to triumph, 12-1.

After a 5-2 loss to Tufts, the Blue took its second victory of the year, 9-1, against Boston English High. The team's performance was highlighted by fourteen Bottonari strikeouts, a seven run inning, and a long home run by Lee Sawyer. Sloppy play by the Andover nine led to losses to Deerfield and the UNH Frosh, followed by the Blue's best game of the season against Dartmouth. Once again PA warmed up for Exeter with a victory as lower Ford Fraker provided a two-run, score-tying hit in the eighth to enable PA to come from behind to win, 4-3.

The victory over the strong Dartmouth Frosh provided a ray of hope for the final game against the Red, but the deep Exie power, which was seven-ninths ringers, proved too strong as PA fell, 5-0. Lee Sawyer pitched a good game and the Blue defense forced Exeter to earn all its runs. Perhaps the final loss to Exeter was a disappointing end for a disappointing season, but the performances turned in by the plethora of underclassmen on the team promised future success for the Blue. It was indeed a "building year."

The 1964 Andover track team won three meets, lost three meets, and finished fourth in the Interscholastics. What success Sorota's athletes enjoyed, however, was due to outstanding individual performances by Captain Jeff Huvelle, Dick Howe, Bob Stempson, Les Jones, Brad Moore and Gene Mazel, rather than great team depth.

The Blue trackmen opened the season with an 83-43 victory over the Northeastern Freshmen. Lower Jim Fabiani won the 100 and 220, and Huvelle won easily in the 440 in the fast early season time of 51.3. He later came back to push Stempson to a 2:01.5 triumph in the 880. Against Dartmouth two weeks later the Blue was edged out 69 to 57. Howe took the mile by sixty yards and Pete Smith electrified the crowd with a last lap kick to come from behind and grab third. Huvelle was nosed out in the quarter but reduced his time to 50.9 seconds.

The long-awaited meet against Harvard proved a debacle as Andover could win only three events despite several peak performances. Huvelle ran the fastest race of his life, 50.6 seconds, only to lose by ten yards. Gene Mazel preserved his string of victories in the hammer throw, but Howe was not so fortunate in the mile. The Crimson's Jim Smith, whom Howe had defeated twice previously, unleashed a 58-second last quarter to take the mile by forty yards in 4:22.8. Andover's Smith cut his time down by six seconds, and Mecury Moore leaped 21'4" to win the broad jump.

A week later Andover trounced a usually strong Holy Cross squad, 86-40. This meet marked the high point of the spring for many Andover runners. Howe lost the mile by a step after a thrilling last lap duel, but set a new school outdoor record in 4:24.1. Huvelle won the 440 handily in 50.9 and returned to run off with the 880 in 2:00.1. The 1965 captain-elect, Doug Pirnie won the high hurdles in the astonishing time of 15.4 seconds.

The Sorotamen could muster only a fourth place finish behind Exeter, Cheshire, and Governor Dummer in the Interscholastics. Dick Howe's easy victory in the mile was one of the very few bright spots for PA. Heavily favored in the 440, Captain Huvelle drew the outside lane, and his early sprint deprived him of his usual finishing kick as he was forced to settle for a first-place tie. A week later in a triangular meet against Boston English and Boston Tech, the Blue coasted to a clear victory in a preliminary to the Exeter meet. Huvelle ran a 50.7 440 only to lose by a hair to the state public school champ. Howe strode easily to a 4:39.2 victory in the mile and returned to take second in the 880, kicking strongly to finish in 2:00.8. In the same race Stempson broke two minutes for the first time.

For the fifth consecutive year Exeter's depth proved too formidable for the Blue, who could muster only five firsts. Upper Terry Thomas heaved the javelin 172' to cop first and Flash Pirnie won the high hurdles with senior Dana Waterman third. Huvelle won in 51.3 after an exciting tactical duel on the last turn with the Red's Lacy. Howe ran off with the mile in 4:30.1, and to everyone's delight Pete Smith continued his phenomenal improvement to finish second in 4:32.4. Stempson led a blue sweep in the 880, winning in 1:59.5, with Howe and Huvelle both under 2:01. The season ended on a happy note when Huvelle, Smith, Howe and Stempson, cheered on by Coach Richards, set a school record in the two mile relay, running against the clock in 8:05.7.

CREW

Thomas, Craford, Roehrig, Eubank, Bussell, Spare (Captain), Kutvirt, Harker, Rounds.

Stroking to an excellent record of ten victories and three defeats, the 1964 crew will stand out among Andover crews forever, not only for its sweeping victory at the Interscholastics and its great performance at Henley, but also for its being able to be such a good crew on the foundation of only two returning lettermen. The shell was propelled by both a high group spirit and a precise, co-ordinated unity which was aided greatly by the wonderful coaching of Mr. Brown.

The determined crew came back to the Merrimack during Spring Vacation, and after ten days of rowing edged the MIT Freshmen by a narrow two-foot margin. A week later, in the toughest dual race of the season, the Blue crew lost to the perennially powerful Kent crew. Stroking a 38, the well-conditioned Kent eight established an early lead, and the slower-stroking PA crew could not close the gap, which was 1½ lengths at the finish. In the spirit of the 1963-64 athletic year, the crew was not overcome by its loss, and thus rebounded to beat Springfield Tech. and Tabor.

Heartened by the victory against the strong Tabor crew, the Blue hopefully eyed the Interscholastics. Cox Chuck Rounds, Captain Steve Spare, stroke Steve Harker, and Coach Brown drove the rowers harder during the daily workouts, and a much stronger PA eight swept by the Trinity and Dartmouth Freshmen by six and two length victories, respectively. Then the Blue oarsmen, plagued by an old shell and the rough waters of the Charles River, lost a disappointing race to the Harvard Freshmen by five feet. However, PA stroked to victory again by finishing two lengths ahead of St. Paul's Shattuck crew.

Crew Sweeps Regatta; Smashes Kent

In excellent condition and high spirits, the hopeful crew faced eight other eights in the Interscholastics on Worcester's Lake Quinsigamond. Off to a very fast start, the Blue had a three-quarters of a length lead after forty strokes. Gradually pulling away from second-place Kent, the Blue oarsmen won by 1¾ lengths. The JV's also triumphed to compile the first PA sweep of the Interscholastics.

With its good record and impressive showing at the Interschols, the crew decided that a trip to the Henley Regatta in England would be a worthwhile experience. Returning to the Hill on the Tuesday after graduation, the oarsmen rowed in two daily workouts for two weeks, and on June 23rd they left for London. The Regatta began on July 1st, when the PA Blue was one of many American victors as it defeated Radley College of Britain. Andover's winning time equaled the winning time of the favored American schoolboy eight of Washington and Lee High School of Arlington, Va. The following day Andover defeated Cheltenham by 3½ lengths, and again the winning times of PA and Washington and Lee were identical.

On July 3rd PA won by more than two lengths over Ealing School, and thus was to face Washington and Lee in the semifinals on Independence Day. However, the Virginians, proving to be too fast for the Blue, won by a length and a quarter, and then defeated Groton in the finals of the Princess Elizabeth Cup. Despite the last disappointing loss, Andover's three-victory performance at Henley was a fitting climax to an excellent season.

TENNIS

Back: Burbank (Manager), Vermeil, Dixon, Henry, McBee (Coach). Front: Mears, Wallach, Devereux, Gonzalez (Captain), Blakeslee, Scheinmann, Phillips.

The 1964 tennis team will no doubt have mixed feelings about its season, which, while rewarding as a result of the sweep over Exeter, was mostly frustrating. The season started poorly for Gonzo's Gang, judged to be one of the best teams in Andover's history. Having had a minimum amount of practice and no matches as a result of rain, the Blue was edged out by a powerful Deerfield squad which boasted two nationally ranked players. After exciting wins by Devereux and Blakeslee, the match came down to the doubles where the Gonzalez-Mears and Dixon-Henry duos were unable to win, and the Green triumphed 5-4.

The nightmares of the Deerfield match were relived three days later as the Blue lost to the Harvard Frosh by one point. After wins by the three top singles players, PA finally fell as only the Devereux-Blakeslee combination could win in the doubles.

The team came back strong after the Harvard match, blasting St. Paul's, MIT Frosh and Milton by shutout scores. All of the PA players won easily, and rarely gave up more than four games in a set. The revamped doubles teams of Gonzalez-Blakeslee and Devereux-Henry won easily, as did Wallach and Scheinmann. On the strength of their winning streak, the netmen were confident when they met the Dartmouth Freshmen, who unfortunately had their best team in years. The match turned out to be a real battle as only Devereux, Wallach, and Scheinmann could register wins.

Against Exeter, Captain Gonzalez led a determined team as he smashed Ware 6-1, 6-3. Blakeslee beat Sines in three sets, and Devereux ended his great undefeated season by beating Von Kreston in a two-and-a-half hour marathon. Scheinmann and Wallach both won easily, while Billy Mears, playing in the sixth position for the first time, beat his man in three sets. Andover's doubles teams won quickly, thus completing a 9-0 sweep of the Red and finishing the rather disappointing season on a high note.

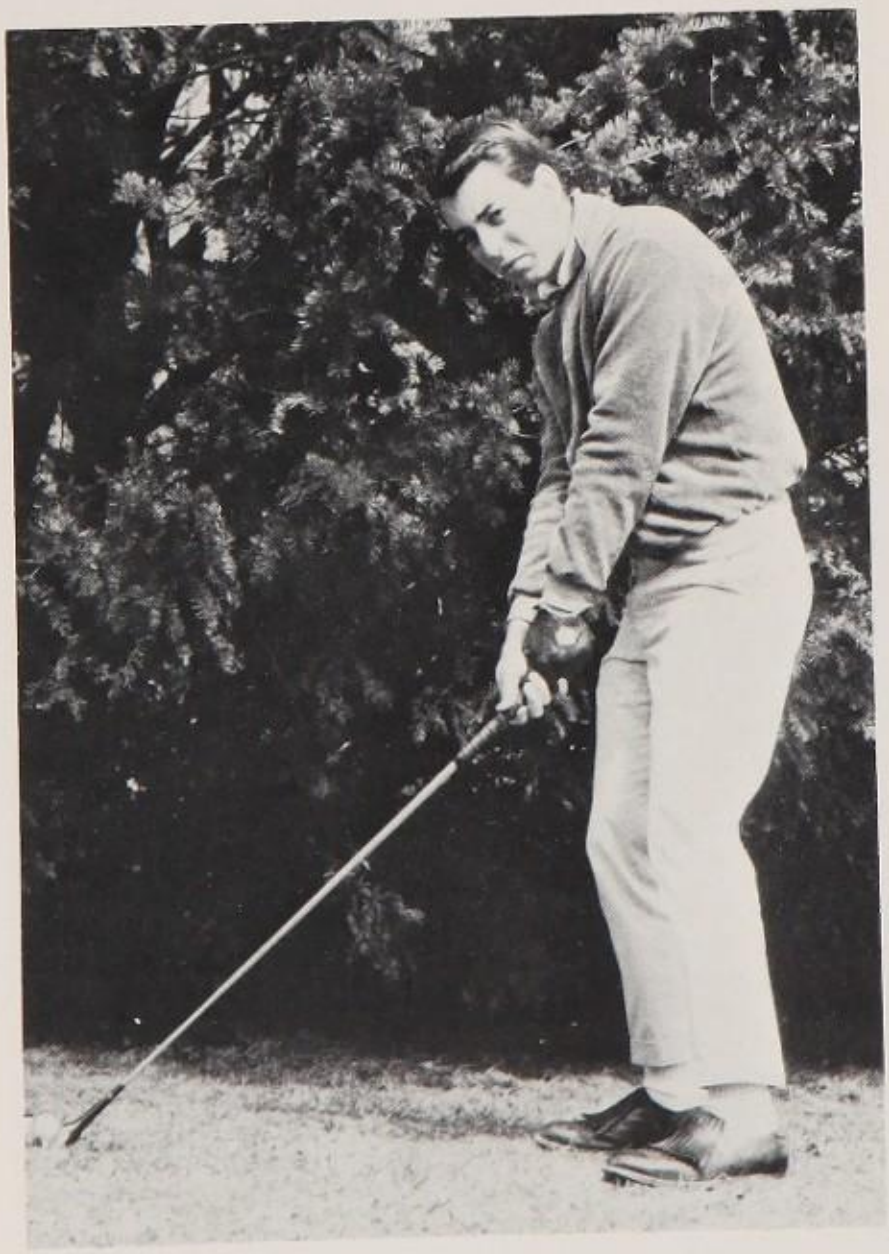
GOLF

Back: Holkins, Farrah, Chivers (Coach). Front: Haley, Parsons, Weinberger (Captain), England, Burke.



According to Coach Chivers, "high moral and the good quality of the golfers combined with the quiet, determined leadership of Mel Weinberger contributed to the finest season in years." Friendly Mel's boys opened the season with a 9½-8½ loss to Mount Hermon, followed by a 5-2 loss to Yale. Depite the poor start, the team looked potentially good with Mel shooting 78 and 76 and Junior John Holkins pleasantly surprising everyone with a 79 and an 81.

The team then picked up the lead in the first of the Andover-Exeter-Governor Dummer matches. On a 42°, windy Wednesday Mel shot a 74 at the Andover Country Club, a record low for the tri-meet. José Parsons followed with an 81 despite six penalty strokes to give PA a 505-515 lead over Exeter. Chris Gurry joined the team and was medalist with 79 at G.D. in the second match of the tri-meet. Al Farrah, sixth man, sunk an exciting 25 foot birdie putt on the 18th hole to keep the Blue in the lead 1007-1008.

Against MIT the golfers set a school record, 473, while recording a 6-1 victory. Brian Haley shot a 74, aided by a 76 from Joe England and 78's from Weinberger and Parsons. Fresh from this triumph, the linksters soundly defeated Exeter 1489-1505 while setting a new tri-meet low. Weinberger, Gurry, and England led the clean sweep at Winthrop by the Sea in the second tri-meet victory for PA in ten years. A 469 total against Dartmouth set another new record and added the final victory of the season. Parson's 75, Weinberger's 78, and England's 79 against Exeter in the dual meet were not enough to pull out a victory as Exeter successfully tamed the wind and the green at Amesbury to win a very close 5-4 victory.

The most important assembly line at Chrysler Corporation.

No idea, no product can ever be better than the people who create it.

We believe this at Chrysler Corporation. That's why you see here a group of engineers receiving advanced degrees at Chrysler Institute of Engineering, in Detroit, a graduate school chartered by the State of Michigan.

What's Chrysler Corporation doing in higher education? Training people to carry on the engineering traditions of Chrysler Corporation.

We choose a select group of graduates from the top engineering schools. We put them through a two-year course of study. They study as many as 22 subjects. 1110 students have received advanced degrees so far.

While going to school, they also work on Chrysler's Engineering Staff with experienced professionals.

It's not easy to get into Chrysler Institute of Engineering. Standards are high. Just as the engineering standards of Chrysler Corporation.
